Japan Does About-Face In Report Of Panay Attack

Japanese Give Another Turn To Panay Story

About Face Report Today Admits Machine Gunning Of Panay Survivors

FIRED UPON BY MISTAKE, PLEA

Chaos Surrounding Incident Is Increased—New Angles Given Reports

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Dec. 23.—In another amazing about-face, Japan today admitted that survivors landing from the Panay and other ships bombed December 13 were machine-gunned.

An official army report made by Lt.-Col. Yoshiaki Nishi, former assistant military attache in Washington, confirmed that men fleeing towards shore were fired upon "by mistake."

His latest report said "it is now recognized" that a patrol from a Japanese infantry company, watching the bombings from ashore, opened fire with light machine guns on persons "looking like Chinese soldiers," alighting from the attacked ships.

Another Variation

Nishi's report only served to add to the conflict and chaos surrounding numerous accounts of the catastrophe. He injected another variation today by saying the Panay was fired upon from shore. Previous accounts concerned charges that two Japanese launches sprayed the Panay with rapid-fire bullets.

Japan's first contention was that the Panay and three Standard-Vacuum oil boats were destroyed "through error," because of poor visibility. Indignantly, American eye-witnesses pointed out that the day was clear, the Panay had been boarded previously by Japanese, the attacking airplanes flew low, and the American flag was vividly discernible.

Then Japan's foreign office admitted the Panay machine-gunning, only to have the rift between army

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Many organizations and churches are planning a Merry Christmas for the unfortunate. Efforts are being made to locate the needy, and it is hardly likely that there will be any families in New Castle who will not enjoy a good dinner and some presents. Christmas means giving, rather than receiving; spreading good cheer where it is needed. Christmas is the anniversary of the birth of Christ, and the nearer people come to observing the day, as Christ would have it observed, the more joy there will be at this season of the year.

Britain Plans To Strengthen Far East Fleet

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 23.—The British cabinet—in the face of jeers in the Japanese press—went forward today with plans for strengthening her fleet in the far east should the occasion demand.

The government instructed the admiralty to make arrangements to dispatch any part of the British Mediterranean fleet to the Orient, if necessary, and stipulated that the ships be ready to move within 24 hours after receiving their orders.

These decisions were maintained in the face of reports here of a barrage of anti-British comment in the Japanese press, terming Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain "militant and arrogant" and announcing that Japan does not fear Britain.

"We are not concerned by the British bluff about reinforcing her navy in the far east," the Japanese press proclaimed.

Bitter Battle Is Now Raging For Hangchow

Japanese And Chinese Troops Battle Fiercely For Possession Of Port

ENGAGEMENT AT CHANGAN OCCURS

Chinese Mine Bridge And Threaten To Blow It Up If Japs Advance

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Dec. 23. — In one of the most bitter hand-to-hand combats of the entire war, Japanese and Chinese troops battled fiercely today for possession of Hangchow, important Chinese port southwest of Shanghai.

As resistance by Chinese forces to the Nipponese advance on Hangchow developed in intensity, a furious engagement got underway at Changan, to the north of the threatened port, which the Japanese entered after staging a desperate attack.

Determined to block Nippon's steamroller advance, Chinese forces placed huge quantities of dynamite under a railway bridge crossing the Chientang river.

The first attempt of the Nipponese to cross the bridge, the Chinese vowed, would provoke the defenders into blowing up the bridge, perhaps with untold loss of life.

Advised To Evacuate.

Japanese officials here, in view of the "danger of severe and extensive fighting," advised foreign consuls to evacuate their nationals from Hangchow and Shaoshing.

At present there are 31 foreigners at Hangchow, including five Americans.

Meanwhile, indicating Japanese ire over increasing signs of Soviet Russian aid to the Chinese, a Japa-

Crash Of Trains Injures 21, None Seriously Hurt

Buffalo Express Of Pennsylvania Railroad Crashes Into Freight Train

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23.—Twenty-one persons, 18 of them passengers, were injured today when the Buffalo Express of the Pennsylvania Railroad crashed head-on into a freight train near Emporium Junction, Cameron County.

None of the passengers or trainmen were seriously injured, according to officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Those hurt included 18 passengers, two firemen and one express messenger.

All continued their journey with the exception of the two firemen, who returned to their homes in Buffalo after another locomotive was attached to the express.

The passenger train, composed of a locomotive and 14 coaches, was headed east with Philadelphia as its destination. It was picking up speed after a brief stop at Emporium Junction when the crash occurred, railroad officials here said.

The collision derailed part of the freight locomotive, the first coach—a mail car—of the express and a box car immediately behind the locomotive of the freight train. Approximately 200 feet of track was ripped up, delaying train service for more than three hours over the westbound trackage.

The Buffalo Express was delayed four hours while a relief engine was rushed to the scene and attached to the passenger train.

Japan's Tactics Wear Patience Of Americans

Procrastinating Tactics In Meeting U. S. Protest Are Irritating

JAPAN'S ANSWER CAUSES TROUBLE

Foreign Office Is Having Trouble Framing Reply To Meet Situation

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23—American patience was wearing a little thin today over Japan's procrastinating tactics in meeting this government's demands for satisfaction in the Panay "incident."

Washington is now in possession of what it considers irrefutable proof that the destruction of the American gunboat by Japanese bombers—far from being the "regrettable accident" that the Japanese masses have been led to believe—actually was deliberate on the part of somebody in the Japanese command. No other conclusion can be reached on the evidence, it is said.

More than a week has now elapsed since the delivery in Tokio of the sternest note that has gone out of Washington since world war days. In that time, an American naval board of inquiry has met, investigated, and found that the stories of civilian eye-witnesses were accurate in all essential details as to the savagery of the attack and the machine-gunning of the survivors.

Unable To Reach Decision

But the Japanese appear to have been utterly unable to reach any findings of their own. There has been no reply to the American note. Japanese army spokesmen continue to maintain the front that the bombers attacked the American ships during "poor visibility" and under the erroneous idea they were fleeing Chinese troop-ships. All the evidence Washington has refutes

Probe Dropped In Death Of Healy

Find That Late Comedian Died Of Natural Causes In Hollywood

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 23.—As authorities dropped their investigation of the death of Ted Healy, a Los Angeles newspaper printed a copyrighted story today that a rich Long Island, N. Y., youth said the comedian struck him Sunday night in a Hollywood night club.

Healy died Tuesday from what was described as natural causes, induced by acute alcoholism, following a riotous celebration over the birth of his son. Bruises were found on his head and over his left eye was a laceration that had required medical attention.

According to the Los Angeles Examiner, Albert Broccoli, 29, a handsome young man-about-Hollywood, said he "pushed" Healy in the fashionable Trocadero, after the latter struck him.

Broccoli denied he had hit Healy hard enough to cause the lacerations.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 23.—The remains of Fort Le Bouf have been discovered by excavators—almost 184 years to the day after its construction by the French at Waterford, Pa.—it was announced today by J. Banks Hudson, state administrator of the Works Progress Administration.

News of the discovery was withheld today pending authentication by state Archaeologist, Dr. Donald A. Cadzow. He said the evidence is sufficient to justify the claim that the remains "are those of the fort where Capt. George Washington discussed with the commandant the conflicting rights to possession of the west."

"Among the various bits of evidence we have the technical expertness with which the walls are built," said Dr. Cadzow. "It indicates construction by military engineers, for the use of which the French are noted. The objects examined, including fused pottery, iron strap hinges and a brass kettle, are clearly

Fumes Overcome 17 Firemen At Downtown Fire

Fifteen Of Firemen In Hospital Overnight As Result Of Blaze

AUTENREITH STORE IS FIRE DAMAGED

Blaze Kept Confined To Basement—Loss Estimate May Reach $15,000

(BULLETIN)

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, it was stated by the attending physician, that all of the firemen who were brought to the hospitals for treatment after being overcome by fumes at the Autenreith fire, would be discharged this afternoon except R. Harold Blewitt. X-Ray examinations of the chest of Fireman George Harper, revealed no serious involvement, and his condition this afternoon was reported good, and he will be able to leave the hospital with the others.

Seventeen firemen were overcome or were seriously affected by the fumes from burning materials containing cellulose nitrate when fire broke out suddenly in the basement of Autenreith's Dollar Store, 126-128 East Washington street, Wednesday afternoon.

The fire was confined entirely to the basement of the store, firemen taking desperate chances in fighting the blaze to prevent its spread throughout the building and to adjoining structures. A loss from fire, smoke, and water, which may reach $15,000 was sustained as a result of the blaze, which is covered by insurance, Manager E. S. Dickinson, stated.

Difficult Blaze

The blaze which developed about 2 o'clock was one of the most difficult ones that city firemen have been called upon to fight for some time, the only entrance to the basement being in the extreme rear of the store, down a narrow stairway and a chute where merchandise was skidded into the storage room in the basement. A dense smoke was created by the fire which kept the firemen at bay for some time, and for a while, it looked as if the structure was doomed.

Holes were cut in the floor in the front of the building, where the fire centered, the cellar nozzles, which throw out a revolving spray of water were inserted through the holes, gradually checking the blaze.

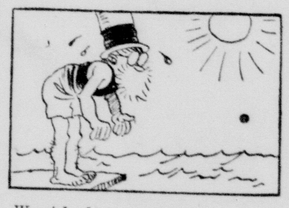

Firemen Overcome

In the meantime, most of the firemen who were overcome at the scene, Fire Chief A. P. McIlwain, Harry Malley, Carl E. White, William M. Shuliff, Clyde Rohrer, and Herman Steinbrink, had worked their way to the front of the building from the rear stairway, and were fighting the fire in the smoke-filled cellar.

The fire is believed to have gotten into materials which were treated with cellulose, and when fire-

Would Strengthen National Defense

Congressman Asks Action

Country's Greatest Assurance Of Peace Is Building Up Defense

YEAR'S BUDGET MAY PASS BILLION

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1937)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23—Immediate strengthening of the entire national defense structure "even though it means continuation of an unbalanced budget," was strongly urged today by Chairman Edward T. Taylor, of the house appropriations committee.

"With the international situation what it is, this country's greatest insurance for peace is in building up our defenses as rapidly as possible to the point of invulnerability," Taylor declared. "As chairman of the house appropriations committee, I intend to do everything in my power to achieve that invulnerability."

Although he declined to discuss either the navy's budget, now being considered in secret sessions by his committee, or the war department estimates, currently in preparation, Taylor said he "did not think it possible to balance the budget under present international conditions.

"And," he added, "I don't think we can balance the budget now because somewhere along the line congress is going to increase substantially our appropriations for national defense.

"Most of the members of congress feel that way now, and by the time we reach consideration of these appropriations in the next few weeks, I think the country is going to feel the same way."

The combined navy and war department budgetary demands for the next fiscal year are reported to exceed $1,000,000,000, the largest national defense program proposed since the World war. The current combined appropriations amount to $931,806,462.

FOUND NOT GUILTY AND ASSESSED COSTS

In the case of Henry A. Graczewski, charged with failing to stop and render assistance, which was tried before Judge W. Walter Braham at Lawrence county court, the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty but pay the costs. Graczewski sideswiped the car of M. K. Gilliland on the New Castle-Wampum road, causing the Gilliland car to run into a bridge abutment. In the trial of the case defendant maintained that he did not know that he had hit the car. Previous to the trial he had paid Mr. Gilliland for the damage to his car.

this. The weather was clear, and a Japanese patrol had been aboard the Panay at anchor only a few hours before the attack.

It is recognized that the Japanese foreign office is having considerable difficulty in framing a reply that will satisfy the American government, and at the same time save the face of the high command of the Japanese army and navy.

Constant Bickering

In Japan, the army and navy operate independently of the civilian branch of the government and report directly to the emperor. It is known there has been constant bickering between the civilian government and the Jingoistic generals and admirals throughout the whole China adventure. But that fact, in Washington's eyes, does not affect the American Naval vessel cannot be sunk and American lives destroyed simply because the Japanese government cannot restrain its war lords.

It is likewise recognized here that the Japanese man-in-the-street is almost in utter ignorance of the real facts in the case. He knows only that an American vessel got "accidentally" sunk and that his government is striving to make amends. He doesn't know of the machine-gunning of the survivors or other brutal details of the affairs, because the vernacular press in Japan has not printed them. The vernacular press did not even print the American note, with its request by President Roosevelt that the emperor himself be advised of the president's feeling of deep shock over the attack.

Average Jap In Ignorance

The English-language press in Tokio has devoted some space to the case, according to advices here, but the average Japanese doesn't read those papers, and so remains in ignorance of the seriousness of the whole business.

The vernacular press prints only what the government lets it print. In this connection there was a rather plaintive editorial paragraph in the Tokio "Kokumin" the other day which was communicated to Washington, it said:

"What is the truth behind the Panay incident anyway? Why have we to offer apologies? What secrets do our authorities possess in addition to what has recently been published? What diplomatic negotiations have been going on between the governments of Japan and the United States?

With that kind of a press, the Japanese man-in-the-street, may wonder what is going on, but he cannot very well appreciate the seriousness of the situation.

No dead line has been set for Japan's reply to the American note, but Washington is becoming impatient over the delay, and the evident inability of the Japanese government to agree, among its various branches, on a version of the whole business.

Transportation of materials for PWA projects involved the use of 3,650,000 freight cars. A total of 172,000,000 tons of material was moved.

was pronounced by Attorney Brockway. A few more songs, with Stanley Heitzer, as piano accompanist followed after which the members started to carve and eat turkey.

Round Speaks

Following the entertainment, L. B. Round, vice president and general manager of the Pennsylvania Power company, was called upon to make a few remarks. He opened his address by wishing everybody the holiday's greetings.

He next introduced the visiting guests from other cities and said he was immensely pleased with the spirit that was on display in all sections of the large banquet hall.

"This is the kind of spirit we need in these days when one hears of pessimism here and there. We have had the happy faculty of being able to fight and the only man who is licked is the man who believes he is licked," Round stated.

"One way of winning is to keep going. Fear is a terrible thing. It is not the things we know, but the things we do not know which we fear. The counter-action of fear is courage.

"The men gathered in this banquet room tonight have demonstrated time and again that they have the thing we need. There is nothing wrong with the country but fear; and courage will counter-act fear.

"And with courage we will rise to new heights," the executive concluded.

REMAINS OF FORT LE BOUF FOUND AT WATERFORD

of French or Canadian origin. Moreover, the remains of this burned fort, thus far only partially excavated, lie practically where indusputably historical data places them."

Fort Le Bouf was the scene of an incident which led directly to the furious warfare in Western Pennsylvania for possession of the new world, it was related. Its charred remains have not been seen since the construction of an English fort nearby in 1794.

Prior to discovery of the old French fort, it was disclosed, the excavators unearthed many remains of the English occupation, including a strange altar object, an acute angle in shape and the legs about six inches long. Also of interest was a piece of irregularly-shaped flat stone approximately eight feet in diameter and situated between two parallel walls.

The historic site will be completely excavated, Dr. Cadzow said, and plans for reconstruction are being considered. A complete report will be assembled for the Pennsylvania State Historical commission, he declared.

KANSAS CHECKS ON AUTOS IN SAFETY DRIVE

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Kan. — State highway patrol officials today expected a decrease in the accident rate here following a recent checkup of automobiles.

Of the 3,320 cars inspected by the patrol, 861, approximately one-fourth, were found to be defective.

Most common fault was defective brakes, poor headlights second and defective tail lights third. About half of the cars were repaired and run through the inspection lanes again to receive an "OK" windshield sticker.

Only five autos were found in such bad condition their owners were ordered to keep them off the highway under threat of arrest.

nese naval spokesman announced 600 Chinese planes, 80 of them manufactured by Soviet Russia, have been destroyed since the Sino-Japanese hostilities began.

Chinese circles, according to reports here, immediately countered by asserting these Japanese claims were "extravagantly fantastic".

Meanwhile, conflicting reports regarding Col. Kingoro Hashimoto, the Japanese officer credited with giving orders for the machine gunning of the sinking United States gunboat Panay, were partially cleared up with receipt of reports that he had been "transferred" from the Wuhu area to another battle sector in China.

JAPANESE GIVE ANOTHER TURN TO PANAY STORY

and government startingly demonstrated by an army "investigation" at Nanking, which "proved" there was no machine-gun activity.

Turn About Complicates

A foreign office reversal followed yesterday, with the claim that the eye-witnesses must have mistaken firing intended for Chinese boats as an attack on the Panay. Today's about-turn only complicated what might seem a comedy were it not for the gravity of the situation.

Nishi also contradicted Japanese allegations that the Panay fired on shore batteries.

The latest version was set forth by Nishi in his account handed to Japanese authorities at army headquarters.

After a short business session, the program chairman, Mrs. R. M. Neal, conducted a questionnaire to which members responded, as the roll was called.

Miss Sterling discussed in an educational and interesting manner, the different garden books the library has to offer. Among the best she listed the following: a new edition in two volumes entitled "History of Garden Art" by Frau Marie Luise Gothein; "The Plant Doctor" by Cynthia Westcott; "Gardening On Nothing A Year," by Mary S. Griffiths; a new reprint of John James Audobon's "Birds of America." Other interesting books were also discussed. She concluded her talk by relating a story of "The Palace That Was Made By Music."

Mrs. E. L. Vincent also presented an interesting address on forest preservation, discussing in an able manner the extent and importance of forests from the time of the landing of the Pilgrim fathers to the present time, including the reforestation project.

Mrs. R. M. Neal gave a few timely reminders, which are always enjoyed by the club members. The programs for 1938 were distributed by Mrs. C. E. Dungan, the chairman. Perry S. Gaston Auxiliary Party Held At Legion Home

Perry S. Gaston Auxiliary had the most successful Christmas party in the history of its origin on Tuesday evening in the American Legion Home. A treat for the kiddies was also a feature of the evening.

There were 148 persons at the party, 40 being children. Notable guests were the Department Chapeau, Mrs. Mary Haney of Aliquippa; the beloved president of Four County Council, Mrs. Thelma Berstler; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Baird of the J. Wilbur Randolph Legion, Ellwood City, and the newly elected register and recorder, Orville Potter.

At 6 o'clock all of the guests were seated around the tables, which were bountifully laden with delicious food. Credit must be given Mrs. H. Cooper, Mrs. Helen Brooks and Mrs. Ellen Daugherty for the preparation of the dinner.

The five large tables were masterpieces, designed by the Legion's Gold Star Mother, Mrs. Anna Gorst, who was mistress of ceremonies. Red Christmas rope, centerpieces of large red candles with white corded wire running upward from the bases of the holders with variegated Christmas balls at each side formed the table decorations. There were 24 Christmas trees with Santas. Large red candles were placed at each end of the tables and unique favors marked the places.

At the command of Mrs. Gorst, 120 candles were lit. There in the candles' soft glow and to the strains of "Silent Night", played by Mrs. Mary Doyle, the entire assemblage sang the Christmas carol.

Mrs. Eleanor Wilkens, the president of the auxiliary, gave the welcome, with "The Candlelight Service", a poem, given by Mrs. Orville Potter, following.

Mrs. Berstler responded to the greetings from the president. After the blessing given by the chaplain, a toast was given by an elocutionist, Mrs. Frances Cope of the auxiliary, and the dinner served.

Others on the program were Mrs. Ruth Connors, the general chairlady, and Mrs. Gorst. Mrs. Connors conducted the following program, presented by the children: "Christmas Greetings," a reading by little four-year-old Howard Gaston; "Songs We Love To Sing On Christmas," a reading by Geraldine Cage; "The Unbroken Song," a recitation by Mary Ruth Wilson; "What the World Needs," a reading by Jean Wilson; violin solo by Doris Daugherty; clarinet duet by Jean Cleaver and Eveline Plum; trombone solo by Robert Doyle, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Mary Doyle.

The children were then given their treat, which consisted of popcorn balls and boxes of candy. The committee in charge of this was Mrs. Anna Jones, Mrs. Rhoda Tobin and Mrs. Dorothy Gaston. A Christmas story, "Jesus' Birthday Is Christmas", was told by Mrs. Gorst.

The department chapeau, Mrs. Haney, and Mrs. Baird both commented favorably upon the event and stated that it was the largest gathering of the kind they had attended.

Credit for the greater part of the success of the affair is given Mrs. Anna Gorst and Mrs. Ruth Connors.

NO DEPRESSION IN ONE CITY

THERE is one city in the United States where business is always good—and right now even the building industry, which is and has been virtually at a standstill in other cities, is booming there.

The city is Washington, D. C., our national capital.

During the first nine months of 1937 only New York, Los Angeles and Detroit stood ahead of Washington in building.

The Capital had private construction totaling $8,529,000 in 1934, but in the first 10 months of this year such building soared to $34,560,000, not counting what was done in the surrounding communities just outside the District of Columbia.

The Saturday Evening Post recently said in its editorial columns that Washington is expected to have risen to tenth position among the cities of the nation by 1940, climbing above Buffalo, Milwaukee, San Francisco and Pittsburgh. It was fourteenth in 1930.

What with constantly greater centralization of government and with Federal jobs ever on the increase, Washington is probably the only major "boom town" in the nation.

SAVINGS BONDS POPULAR

Educating the public in the new form of government paper, baby savings bonds, must be adjudged fairly successful on the basis of sale of more than $1,000,000,000 worth since March, 1935. They are properly termed savings bonds in that they are sold at a fixed discount. In other words, instead of the holder getting his interest in the normal way, he gets it in appreciation of principal.

The bonds, being non-transferable, may not be used as collateral and there is no public market for them. However, the buyer can sell them back to the government six months after issue at a set price, varying according to the time. The shorter that time, the less the interest rate. To receive the maximum return of 2.9 per cent the holder must keep the bonds for the full maturity period of 10 years, but when he puts down his cash he knows in advance just what he can get at any period.

Thus the government has continued to divert to its coffers savings that, coming through the postal savings system, threatened to dry up with the guaranty of bank deposits in 1933. As a channel for supplying the government with borrowed funds, besides regular marketing operations and social security receipts, savings bonds promise to be no inconsiderable factor.

THE GREATEST BIRTHDAY

In all the gaiety of the Christmas season, in all the giving of gifts, in all the social gatherings, may not the real meaning of the day be too often forgotten? May there not be too much thought of the Tree and too little of the Crib? To say this is not to ignore the spirit expressed in the traditional greeting, "Merry Christmas." Let black care cease to ride behind the horsemen for at least one day in the year. The oldest must have something of youth at such a moment. For it is the birthday of a Child which we celebrate—the greatest birthday in all the world.

There can be no real Christmas, then, without His pervasive presence. It is not enough to believe in "The enduring power, not ourselves, which makes for righteousness." One can not worship an abstraction. If the time be "hallowed and gracious," the Person of our Lord makes it so.

Christmas without Christ is a contradition in terms. Even our secular observances derive from and depend upon the religious. "On earth peace, good will towards men"—this was not the feeling of "that hard pagan world," and modern paganism can not inspire it. All the earth has changed since a Mother bore her divine Infant in a stable, "because there was no room for them in the inn."

No indifference to its fundamental significance can transform the character of Christmas. Methods of celebrating it may have changed during all these centuries, but the substance remains the same.

OPTIMISM OF YOUTH

There's a certain young fellow who is 15 today—and he looks with cheerful optimism on the world at large.

Dull care has no place in his budget, details do not perplex him, studies and home work bring no dismay. He has outdistanced his Dad on getting the proper quotas of relaxation without dodging any of the responsibilities that come to one of his age. If he is five minutes late for supper because the skating or the coasting is most inviting, he is only running true to tradition—for youth takes little cognizance of what the clock says

Time, after all, is only relative. There are certain islands in the South Seas which do not have clocks at all, and yet the inhabitants there enjoy life to the fullest. In the uncharted areas of the Arctic there is no need for timepieces which tell the hour of the day—or six-months night—to a split second.

All of which reminds us that perhaps we have become a nation of clock watchers; doing this task at a certain hour, hurrying to a meeting at 7:25 to be there promptly at 7:30, passing up the dessert at supper so that one can see the first reel of a feature at 6:43, etc.

A newspaper moves by the clock, its subscribers live by it, the world counts "speed" at a prime factor—and yet, in the drab days of an approaching winter, it is heartening to find youth enthusiastic and not a bit excited whether it is 4:10 or 4:15 when a certain errand must be performed.

Give us the vision and enthusiasm of this lad of 15!

Mere man has one advantage over the ladies. He doesn't feel abused because he can't kiss Robert Taylor.

An Ohio defendant told the traffic court that the eight beers he had were "inconsequential." If he said it without stumbling, they were.

Scientist announces the discovery of a gas that will sober a drunk immediately. This will put a new slant on "getting all gassed up."

China finds pride in her ancient civilization, but the more thoughtful Chinese are willing to concede that a couple of hundred modern machine guns would be of much more practical help in the present crisis.

In Kansas a car struck a sturdy citizen who was out for a walk and was hurled into a ditch and wrapped around a telegraph pole. It would be something in the nature of poetic justice if potential hit-and-run drivers could always run into just such sturdy citizens

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHRISTMAS PROBLEMS IN FAMILY

A great deal of excitement in homes today, especially among children. The average child, unfortunately, has his attention centered on what he will receive rather than on what he will give. Mere exchange of gifts may be highly selfish. Perhaps Christmas will make him lose more than he will gain of the ideals coming out of Bethlehem. No doubt we all would get more spiritual values if we presented gifts only to those from whom we could expect none. Certainly we would like to have our children offer one such gift.

Observing these problems in ourselves and our children this year, we might consider ways of doing something about the matter next Christmas.

My childhood training did not include going to church on Christmas morning, and the experiences of my children did not—creatures of habit and family custom. But I do not doubt that my children and their parents would derive rich moral and spiritual values from getting up early on Christmas morning and going to church, as my Catholic neighbors do. Of course, they should remember, as they contemplate the degree of our delinquency, that they have practiced this virtue of theirs for generations and, therefore, can do it with more ease. I really do believe their practice in this respect is worthy of the emulation of more of us Protestants. And we might, certainly at first, get more out of it than they do, on the assumption that the harder a thing is to do, that you think worth doing, the more spiritual value you will get from doing it. Perhaps some of my readers will disagree with that last sentence. Their privilege, of course.

When You Travel

Some families with young children have traveled far to spend Christmas with relatives. With so many crowded in one house, the tensions tend to tighten, with the brunt of the burden on the mother of the young children, and on the hostess. Older children have come home, too. We hope they pitch in and help.

Dad, do your share Christmas. Look after the young children and try to keep them fairly serene under all the strain of excitement. Children old enough to help should be assigned to do so, especially to wash the dishes—and the boys as well as the girls. They might find this task easier if dad would join in the enterprise.

In spite of anything I might say, most mothers are fretting all too much about Christmas. The day for the mother and all the family would be far happier if she only planned a simple meal. Nevertheless, she will derive a deal of satisfaction laboring for her loved ones. Three cheers for her!

All Of Us

I HAVE WON!

I have had the best of it.
If it all ends now, if I do not finish this sentence, my life is on the good side of the Great Ledger, and Life is my creditor.
Whatever happens now, I am the winner.

Just because I am alive, that has happened to me and I have had the best of it.

Yes, I know there is pain and bitterness in the world. Poverty, stupidity, ignorance and arrogance. Envy, jealousy, disease and brutality. Blindness, agony, cruelty, unspeakable hatred. . . . And many a child gets a rotten deal and many a man, though he does not complain, might cry that he never had as good a chance as the next fellow.

Too, too true, all true. And yet, I do believe that just to have been alive is richness. . . . Just to have breathed deeply on a sunny morning. To have thrust your shoulders against a driving wind. Just to have been hungry and to have eaten. To have been thirsty and to have drunk. To have been lonely and found one friend. To have loved and to have known that precious humbling knowledge that one has love. . . . To feel the beat of the heart, the stroke of the pulse. To watch the waves roll in on a rocky coast, to see the sun rise in magnificence and descend in glory and to watch the great stars come forth in the limitless heavens. To feel pity and awe and joy and even anger and grief and bewilderment. . . . These are all part of that great adventure of being alive that I have known and you and you have known and which cannot be taken away from us.

And any one may stand erect and square his shoulders and say to his tormenters:

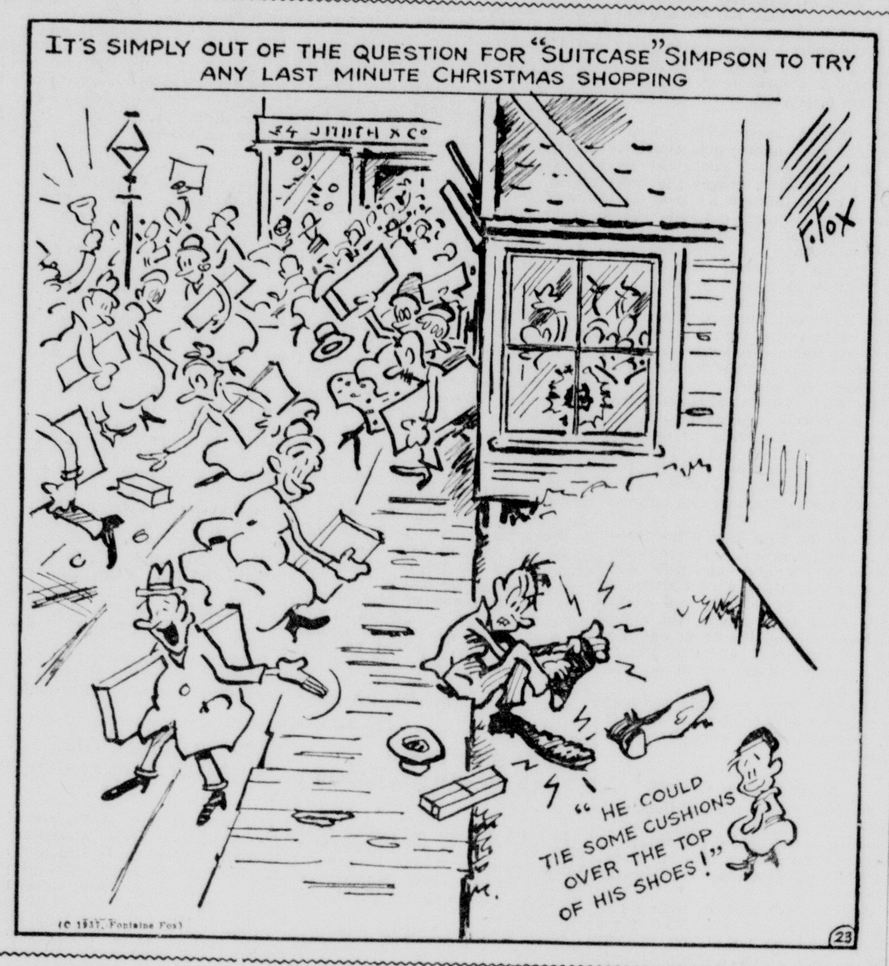

"Though you torture me and gag my mouth and reduce me to poverty. And though you take even my life from me and crush my abandoned body with great stones, one thing you cannot take from me: I have been alive, I know I have been alive, for a fleeting instant I have been a part of the great current of humanity. And in that stream I have done my part and achieved my immortality."

And that is why I may say that, whatever happens now, no matter how soon it all ends for me, I have won!

Just the old-old greeting

Dear Miss Markel — Could you give me some suggestions for arranging my breakfast room? May I have linoleum on my floor? What kind of furniture should I choose?
AMY.

Answer: A breakfast room may have a gayer character than a dining room. Furniture painted in a bright color will do much toward making this room the cheerful, colorful place that one will enjoy for the morning meal.

Breakfast room furniture comes in suites like dining room pieces—table, chairs, china closet and serving table.

If your breakfast room is situated in that section of your house in which the morning sun pours profusely, you may properly place harmonizing draperies on your windows . . . plain material, chintz or gingham. If the sun does not reach this room until later in the day, glass curtains of a thin white or a cream material will be more satisfactory.

You may have linoleum or a rug on your floor, as you please.

Britain Swings Toward Fascists.
Foreign Policies Are Kept Secret.
Tory Deals Worry Some Of Nations.

By LESLIE EICHEL,
Central Press Columnist

INFORMED Americans wonder whether the British people know how far toward the Nazi-Fascist camp Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain is taking them.

The present British government has as its mentors the shrewdest empire-builder capitalists in the world. British Big Business has no animosity toward Nazi-ism so long as Nazi-ism keeps off its toes. And it really believes fascism may "save" capitalism (which is contrary to what the American business man believes). The only reason British Big Business fell out with Mussolini's fascism was because Mussolini DID step on British capital's toes.

THE HALIFAX MISSION

Nobody on the "outside" really knows what Lord Halifax promised to Fuehrer Hitler when he went to Germany as special envoy for Prime Minister Chamberlain. Britain's foreign policies remain as secret to the British citizen as Italy's remain to the Italian citizen, with some few slight exceptions. But the "secret" this time is out all over Europe. Lord Halifax is supposed to have promised Germany a free hand in Czechoslovakia and Austria, if Germany would suspend her claim for colonies for six years—when Britain would "arrange" — presumably—to get some for her.

Czechoslovakia is the democracy that stands in Germany's path toward expansion.

Austria already is as good as Germany's. This, however, may cause the split that everybody expects between Germany and Italy. Mussolini has counted Austria as his.

But imagine how the Czechoslovakians feel.

Something like the Spanish Loyalists when Britain left them flat. General Franco, the Fascist insurgent, had captured the mines with which Britain did business.

And imagine, too, how France feels. It has the constant feeling that Britain simply balances it against other powers, to keep them all off Britain's toes. Democracy does not seem to enter into the calculations of the ruling power in Britain.

But it does know that as long as France and other countries owe it huge sums of money, it can dictate.

Yet, the French are shrewd diplomats. In fact, they are the most realistic diplomats in the world today. They know that Great Britain must reinforce its fleet in the Far East, thus will be dependent on the French fleet in southern European waters. Thus Britain may have to play up to France more than to Germany—as long as Mussolini threatens in the Mediterranean and Japan in the Orient.

WILL IT MEAN ANYTHING?

All that many sound harsh. It is, however, the gist of what is being said even by British liberal observers themselves. Britain still has free political speech—except when one writes of royalty.

The British government is represented as taking the view that it must compromise with Fascist countries in order to preserve world peace. It must sacrifice a few countries to the east of Germany perhaps. It must "save its face" in many ways—until its huge rearmament is ready. It must make bargains to save its trade "life lines", for Britain lives off its trade overseas. It must stop revolt among the Arabs, keep Egypt and India quiet.

But will Germany and Italy and Japan be appeased? And if they are appeased with too much, will the countries violated, and the other countries who fear—such as France and the Soviet Union, and even the British Dominions (in the case of Japan)—permit these British "deals" to go through?

PEACE?

No less a person than the British foreign secretary, Anthony Eden, over whose head the prime minister has gone, fears the Tory maneuvers may lead to war, not peace.

The old balance of power trading will not solve the ills of the world. Two of the things that will,

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE STRANGE EXPERIMENT

The Dionne quintuplets have just made another conquest. Over two hundred sober-sided biologists, psychologists and educators recently assembled in Toronto to real solemn scientific papers on the "Quints," and discuss, in potent three and four-syllable words, just what science has found out about these youngsters.

No doubt these educators enjoyed each other's dissertations on environment, growth and personality factors, but judging from all reports, the scientists' real fun didn't begin till they arrived at Callander.

Hidden by a screen and wire fence, the two hundred psychologists and educators murmured, cried and ejaculated with pleasure, mirth and affection at the antics of the five girls on their playground. These were real, honest-to-goodness youngsters of flesh and blood, and not the shadowy figures of the laboratory studies and charts.

There was Emilie making a sand pile, and Cecile furiously riding her velocipede, with a red wagon tied on behind, and Yvonne proudly pedaling with her hands off the bars, and Annette gayly singing—off key!—and Marie lugging a box to set up a make-believe store counter.

Proud and pleased as parents, the educators agreed the "Quints" were healthy, normal and captivating,—endorsing a viewpoint most of America had long since arrived at. And Dr. Dafoe summed up their comments by adding:

"I'd just say there were smart kids!"

Hints On Etiquette

BETTERING THE WORLD

I would that I could change the world
And leave the flags of hatred furled.
My life I think would be well spent
If I could banish discontent
And wash away the wrongs of earth
In floods of fellowship and mirth.
But this is such a mighty task
Of one it seems too much to ask.

Thus troubled sore I sit and pine
Because such little strength is mine.
So brief my years; my gifts so few,
Against the evils that I view,
I am convinced that I alone
Could never make my presence known.
And so complacent I remain
Telling myself such dreams are vain!

Yet if alone I dared to be
From all the petty hatreds free;
If I should touch my dwelling place
With just a little more of grace;
And in this life of mine I should
Supplant what's base with what is good.
By just that much, it seems to me,
This troubled world would better be.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

NEW YORK.—Louis K. Comstock, president of the Merchants' Association of New York, outlines "needs" of government and industry:

"We shall need to substitute law for lawlessness, courtesy for cunning, fair dealing for trickery, both in government and in industry."

STOCKHOLM.—Dr. Sven Hedin, noted Swedish explorer, says Japan soon will dominate the Orient:

"The reign of the white race in the Far East is coming to an early and definite end."

MIAMI, Fla.—Senator J. Hamilton Lewis urges the declaration of an "American policy" by the United States:

"The day is upon us when America must tender herself as mediator of the conflicts between the nations of the world."

THURSDAY, DEC. 23

Once Upon Dec. 23rd.—There is one branch of the science and art of medicine in which the United States indisputably leads the world, and it, of course, is dentistry.

One consequence is that Americans as a whole have the best teeth of any people except the so-called uncivilized tribes who take care of their diets and don't have to take so much care of their teeth. Another is that American dentists, and American dental knowledge, are in demand in every country among low and high.

An American dentist recently was invited to Moscow to fix Stalin's teeth. The first foreign male ever to enter one Oriental monarch's harem was a dentist summoned to fix up the houris' teeth in accordance with ideas the potentate had derived from movie beauties. One of the most revealing pictures of the Kaiser is in the memoirs of his American dentist.

This is the 114th anniversary of the birth of one of the first to carry American dental knowledge abroad. That was Thomas Wiltberger Evans, native Philadelphian, who was also

Receive Word Of Sudden Death Of James E. Woods

Word has been received here telling of the sudden death on Friday of James E. Woods at his home at 340 Common street, Belmont, Mass He suffered a heart attack which proved fatal . Mr. Woods was 61 years of age.

He leaves his wife, the former Miss Minnie Mae Davis, one time resident of New Castle, and well-known in this district, and a daughter, Mrs.. E. W. Spalding of Stamford, Conn. He is also survived by one brother, Fred Woods, of this city.

Funeral services were conducted on Tuesday afternoon from the Payson Park church in Belmont, with the Rev. Richard H. Bennett in charge.

one of the first dentists to be a physician as well, and one of the first specialists. An early apprenticeship as a goldsmith enabled him to win early recognition as the country's foremost expert on fillings.

Having always had a yen to travel, Evans decided in 1846 Europeans needed teeth-fixing as much as Americans; and established himself in Paris. He is credited with having introduced dentistry as we know it, in Europe. There was so much demand for his services among royalty that he had little time for commoners. His clients included Napoleon III and Empress Eugenie, whose life he saved from a Paris mob in 1871; the king of Denmark and his family, Queen Victoria, Nicholas I of Russia, Sultan Abdul-Aziz of Turkey, King Leopold of the Belgians, and dozens of German royalty.

Dr. Evans was in St. Petersburg on a vacation visit when a court equerry called at his hotel and commanded him to go to the imperial palace to examine his majesty professionally. Evans informed him he was on a pleasure trip, was an American, and was not under orders of the czar. The latter, receiving this response, respectfully dispatched a cordial guest invitation to the palace. This the doctor accepted, but wouldn't examine the czar's teeth until after the visit as a guest was over. Eventually he became one of Nicholas' few inimates and friends, and the czar gave him decorations usually awarded only to generals and statesmen.

The good doctor was not content with mere medals, however. He exacted rich fees, and built up a fortune of $25,000,000. This he greatly enhanced by taking a tip from a patient that a lot of Paris property was to be condemned by the government to make way for an extensive boulevard system. Evans went out and bought up a lot of the property to be condemned, and then put fancy prices on it.

He had no children, and his millions were left to charities in the United States.

On Other Dec. 23rds. 1790—Jean Francois Champollion was born. Because he, a French professor, spent 20 years deciphering 14 signs in the Egyptian transcription on the Rosetta stone brought back from the Nile by Napoleon, we know intimately the history of a highly civilized people who had lived so many thousand years ago that all knowledge of them had been lost.

1817—Congress abolished all internal federal taxes. None were levied again for 44 years!

1874—Gold was discovered in the Black Hills—on French Creek, near Custer, S. D. $300,000,000 has been mined there since then.

1933—Crown Prince Akihito of Japan was born.

1935—Mr. and Mrs. Chares A. Lindbergh and their 3-year-old son left the United States for England.

the British government will not or cannot put into action—free access to raw resource lands and a redistribution of credit facilities (in which the United States most certainly would have to join). The British government could try to trade these for disarmament.

Incidentally, the offering of a few small colonies in West Africa would not appease Germany. The distress of the "have not" countries would not be lessened by the actual grant of colonies (however satisfactory politically and emotionally that might be). The "raw resource" lands already developed are starving for lack of trade. It is the free movement of trade and the free movement of credit that the world needs.

Germany will find no surcease from her economic woes until other nations will exchange their raw resources and foodstuffs for her manufactured products.

But the spirit of nationalism rides high in all countries—and by nationalism they probably will perish, if not by war, then by starvation.

Shoppers In Final Christmas Rush

THAT PALE wan look you see on the faces of saleslgirls these days is no sign they are coming down with a fever. It isn't love either. Its just the annual case of 11th hour jitters caused by the last minute shoppers, who knew what they wanted to buy for Uncle Phineas last July, but just didn't get around to it.

Like the souvenir hunters at conventions there doesn't seem much can be done about it. The last minute shopper is the victim of a complex he can't shake off. The L. M. S. has a feeling that if he or she buy Christmas presents more than two days before Christmas a burglar might break in and take them.

The result is a mad jam for the couple of days before Christmas and there isn't anything madder than a pre-Christmas mad jam.

It has been estimated that there are enough feet trampled on in department stores in the last minute Christmas rush than would fill all the shoes of five shoe factories working six days a week for a year with time and a half for overtime.

But there isn't much you can do about it except issue an annual warning and this is it. Pointing a long index finger in alarm we rise to remind you and you and you that tonight and tomorrow only remain for you to do your Christmas shopping.

Gone is the chance to pick over a large selection, gone is the chance to shop leisurely, from here in its every man for himself and that reminds us. We aven't got that gift for Aunt Sophronia yet.

Special Session Of Legislature Being Forecast

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 23.—Pennsylvania's relief tangle will soon break out in a special session of the legislature, Rep. William A. Shaw, chairman of the House Welfare committee, predicted today.

Stiff opposition to the retention of Karl De Schweinitz as secretary of public assistant by Gov. George H. Earle can be expected in both houses in the event of a special session, he said.

Shaw said action by the legislature will be required to transfer funds to meet the relief deficit before the end of the fiscal year, May 31. He said he was confident the house, and probably the senate, will not approve any such transfers unless De Schweinitz is fired. Shaw said he so informed the conference called by Governor Earle to study the relief battle.

HOLIDAY PARTY IS HELD BY TOWNSMEN

Members of The Townsmen journeyed to New Wilmington last night for their annual Christmas stag party in a tavern there.

During a short business session, the club voted to sponsor the newly organized basketball team of the local National Youth Administration office.

Soil Conservation Program Commences

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 23—Pennsylvania's far-flung soil conservation program got under way today.

Citizens of four Pennsylvania watersheds began the establishment of soil erosion control districts under the state soil conservation laws passed by the 1937 legislature.

The four communities presented petitions for permission to set up the first cooperative district in the state.

Petitions were presented by groups at Black Lick in Indiana and Cambria counties, Loyalhanna Creek in Westmoreland county and Sewickley and Jacobs Creek in Westmoreland and Fayette counties.

The soil conservation act was designated to legalize community action in saving Pennsylvania's fast-disappearing top soil.

HILLSVILLE

TEACHERS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. W. F. Miller, Edenburg road, principal of Hillsville consolidated school, entertained her teachers at a delicious turkey dinner Tuesday evening.

Christmas appointments were used throughout in decorations and many exclamations of pleasure were heard when each guest found a beautiful hand-knitted purse by her place. Later in the evening the teachers presented Mrs. Miller with an electric percolator.

During the later evening hours music, chat and bingo formed the diversion, many prizes being awarded to the guests.

HILLSVILLE SCHOOL NOTES

Hillsville consolidated school closed its doors on Wednesday, December 22, for the annual Christmas vacation, which will continue until January 3.

Each room enoyed a Christmas party and by the sounds of laughter issuing from the rooms as one walked through the halls, the children had a delightful time. Literary programs, games and music formed the entertainment, after which each teacher served a delicious lunch to the children. After the gifts were exchanged, all the rooms gathered in different sections of the halls to sing Christmas carols, and as the children passed out the doors more than one was heard to exclaim that it was the nicest pre-Christmas day they had ever had.

"NOT GUILTY", BUT PAY COSTS OF CASE

In the case of the commonwealth against Ralph Cialella, charged with a statutory offense against a young woman, the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty, but pay the costs. This was the first case taken up before Judge Thomas W. Dickey at Lawrence county court.

They say the world has outgrown the old religion, but that's nothing new. Captain Kidd and Jesse James outgrew it long ago.

Writer's Auto Won't Wear Out

Friends Trying To Induce Lisle Bell To Write History Of Car Of 1928 Vintage

LIKES TO BROWSE IN SWANKY SHOPS

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—They are trying to get Lisle Bell, the book reviewer, to write the history of the automobile he bought in California in 1928 of a make now out of existence and whose vicissitudes should have long ago consigned it to the junk pile. Everything has happened to it.

O. O. McIntyre

But without ever going to the repair shop, it rolls merrily on. It has crossed the continent twice, emerged cock-a-hop thru two dust storms and remainded for 48 hours in the leavings of an Ohio valley flood, unhurt. Yet recently Bell complained the upkeep was beginning to tell.

Some boys swiped the radiator cap and the replacement cost 48 cents. The clerk inquired: "Don't you want an ornament?" Bell replied grimly: "When I want an ornament I'll have my wife sit out there." The clerk wandered off, shaking what was left of his head. The other week the car went to the painter.

Bell asked the painter if he didn't want a deposit and received the flattering reply: "No, I'll have the car."

The owner didn't know how to take that, in view of the fact the refurbishing cost all of $15 Anyway Old Faithful is now taking the turns in Canada and going strong.

Outside of browsing through a brilliantly lit five and ten, I find nothing more fun in the way of shopping adventure than a snoop through the high-priced luxury establishments—such as Cartier's on the avenue. Especially in the men's section. Fountain pens with gold tops, gold pencils with folding magnifying glass and gold bill clips from $25 up to several hundred. And wrist watches set in gold, black enamel, shell lacquer and platinum all the way up to $1,000. Cigaret cases seem man's best bet in letting himself go—some of platinum and gold, woven with initials encrusted in rare gems, would keep an average family off relief for four or five years.

Most men have something in the way of personal adornment with which they are loath to part. The suspenderless Heywood Broun has a frayed belt that is something in the way of an antique. John Drew insisted on detachable cuffs long after they were hooted by the comic papers. George M. Cohan's green dressing robe has been to the cleaners too many times to remember. And Irvin Cobb's full dress suit would have been perfectly dandy at the Lincoln inaugural ball. Even the plushed-up Dwight Fisk is said to wear a red flannel dickey as a protection for chest colds.

My sartorial cling is for a pair of house slippers, scuffed and run over, that have been salvaged twice just in the nick of time from the ash can. Once in a regenerating moment I decided to discard them and go straight. From famed Costa's on the rue St. Honore I had a pair of mauve-toned Russian house boots with flaring cavalier tops fashioned. I promised when they were broken in, the ancient house slippers would go. But H. T. Webster came to call, took one look at the new boots and had the neighbors rapping on the radiator pipes for less noise—he grew that hysterical. I made one more heroic effort and tried them out on a train journey, but the heat or something swelled my feet so I had to call a porter to get them off. He seemed to think they were funny, too.

A number in New York pay from $40 to $90 for custom made shoes. One family of bootmakers—the Moores—extends back through three generations. Stanford White was the most generous patron in his day of hand made shoes, ordering a dozen at a crack. Dancers, such as Clifton Webb, Paul Draper, Ray Bolger and such, buy the best of carefully made shoes, for their livelihood depends solely on keeping their feet in perfect condition. Damon Runyon is the best customer among the laymen.

Thingumbobs: Sam Leibowitz, noted criminal lawyer, is a shark at anagrams...Floyd Gibbons does not own a single bond or share of stock ...Ina Claire prefers the corner hamburger stand after the play .. Major Bowes' new country home will have 20 concealed radios...Harry Evans takes one night out a month to dance until dawn, just for the exercise.

Modern 50-50: Ted Saucier knows a fellow who never clashes with his wife. She goes her way and so does he.

Santa Claus Is Out Of Stamps

(International News Service)

SANTA CLAUS, Ind., Dec. 23.—Santa Claus ran out of stamps and had to order fresh supplies from Indianapolis today.

So great was the demand for the postmark, "Santa Claus" on Christmas letters and packages, that the supply of stamps ordered by Postmaster Oscar L. Phillips became exhausted.

Early today, Phillips received 2,600 stamps and expected another shipment this afternoon.

A new record of nearly one million pieces of mail will be set this year by the local postoffice, Phillips predicted.

Now that appointment of a judge has been made, that of a coroner to take the place of Orville Potter, resigned, and a county commissioner to take the place of Joseph Hannon, deceased, will be next in order. The coroner job is filled by the governor and the county commissioner by the court. There are plenty of applicants for both jobs.

Attorney George W. Muse was unable to be at court yesterday on account of illness, and turned the Henry A. Graczewski case, for failing to stop, in which he was attorney for the defendant, over to Attorney Charles A. Wallace and Orville Brown.

An appeal from the decision of Alderman Brice of the first ward, has been filed at the prothonotary's office in the case of John H. McCalmont of Slippery Rock township, against Howard M. Smith of this city. Judgement in favor of the plaintiff had been rendered for $90.

An execution has been filed at the prothonotary's office by V. M. Brown, use Emma J. Brown and others against, J. Elder Bryan, administrator in the estate of Blaine L. Norris, deceased, and others. The claim is based on a mortgage on which the amount due is alleged to be $3,065.27.

Frank Ross has filed an application at the prothonotary's office for a divorce from his wife, Sue Ross, on the grounds of desertion. The couple were married in December, 1928 and lived in Ellwood City.

William J. Osburn has filed an execution against the estate of the late Sankey P. Penberthy, Lawrence Savings and Trust Company, executor, and Olive Penberthy, executrix. The amount of the mortgage is $3,273. 23.

In the Edenburg viaduct damage cases that of Alice Reeble and James Reeble, which was scheduled for hearing this week, has been continued until another date, following an application to restate the claim. Final testimony was taken in the case of Gertrude Medine, who has a claim for two houses which were torn down.

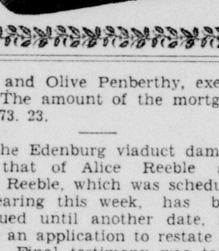

Letters of administration in the estate of the late Sarah Stoner, of Slippery Rock township, have been granted by Register and Recorder, William R. Hanna to Lester K. Stoner. Letters testamentary in the estate of the late Mary P. Roberts of Union township, have been granted to Attorney Charles R. Davis. Letters in the estate of the late Rebecca Wimer have been granted to Janet R. Glasser.

Frank and Mary Androla of Wampum have filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against George H. Herbert of the same place for $7000 damages for the death of their son, Norman Androla, who was killed in an accident. It is claimed that a truck belonging to the defendant had been delivering merchandise and had been parked in a driveway. Norman Androla aged 4 and his twin sister had been playing in the driveway, and when the truck was started it was backed up, catching the little boy between it and a post, and injuring him so badly that he died soon after.

Midnight Festival At Trinity Church

Special Program Is Announced For Christmas Eve At Episcopal Church

Tomorrow, Friday, Christmas Eve, at 11:30 p. m., or one half hour before midnight, will begin the annual Midnight Festival Service in Trinity church at the corner of North Mill and East Falls streets. This great event commemorating the Nativity of Christ is not for Episcopalians only, but affords an opportunity for all people to worship and adore God for the great gift of His Son.

The service will be the Holy Communion. Following long established custom there will be no sermon, just a few words of Christmas greeting from the Rev. Philip C. Pearson on behalf of the Parish. The message of Christmas will be brought to all, by the readings from Holy Scripture, the hymns, and other musical selections, the symbolism, and the beautifully decorated church and the spirit of worship which always characterizes this particular service.

Tonight the church is being decorated by the men of the Parish under the leadership of Lewis J. Lewis, with the assistance of Troop V-55, Boy Scouts. Immense evergreen trees, southern smilax, and holly wreaths are being used. The Daughters of the King have charge of the altars on which bright red poinsettas are the flowers in the large brass vases.

The special program of music to be rendered by the Senior Choir, Miss Isabel T. Johnson at the organ, and which will be repeated on Sunday morning at 11:00 a. m. with suitable changes in the hymns selected, is as follows:

Organ preludes, Chorale, "Jesu, Meine Freude,"—Bach; "Jesu Bambino."—Yon.

Presentation sentence—Beethoven in G.

Urges Active Newspaper Advertising Campaign To Boom Travel Business

(International News Service)

DENVER, Dec. 23.—A large scale newspaper advertising campaign will make the business of tourism the nation's largest industry within a score of years, it was predicted here by Joe H. Thompson, national director of the Conoco Travel Bureau.

In an address before the Colorado Press association here, Thompson said newspapers of the United States in the next few years will witness the development of an entirely new type of advertising—a type that will stimulate travel on a scale never before imagined.

"The business of tourism," Thompson said, 'is already our third ranking industry, and I predict that it is rapidly approaching our largest industry. In 20 years it will reach that point.

"Tourism, or travel, has now reached a stage in its evolutionary growth where its next step will be an industrial and geographical type of publicity and advertising. I predict that cities, trade associations, states, railroads, oil companies and other large business organizations soon will enter on a larger scale than ever before the advertising field, for the purpose of prevailing upon the American consumer to spend more money on travel.

'Because of their ability pictorially and faithfully to reproduce typical views from our great scenic areas, newspapers will be the most important instrumentality of the advertising used."

Thompson predicted that tourists in this country would spend $5,000,000,000 next year in their travels.

Has Tobacco Habit

Mrs. Zeda Scott

Mrs. Zeda Scott, of Branford, Fla., has the tobacco habit bad. This year she raised 4,000 pounds of the leaf on a five-acre patch on her 120-acre farm. She is one of thousands of women who are engaged in tobacco culture through the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida. Mrs. Scott differs from the majority in that she is a widow and the majority of them have husbands to help. Although she grows the weed, Mrs. Scott does not use it in any form.

Promotions For Motor Police As Christmas Gifts

Deputy Commissioner Wilhelm And Five Captains Get Promotions From Foote

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 23—Commissioner Percy W. Foote passed out six promotions in rank as Christmas presents to veteran officers in the state motor police today and simultaneously announced a list of 433 recruits for his force.

Deputy Commissioner C. M. Wilhelm headed the list of those advanced effective January 1. Wilhelm who served as deputy superintendent of the old state police under Major Lynn G. Adams was promoted from major to lieutenant-colonel.

Five captains were advanced to the rank of major, all permanent commissioners.

They were Captains Earl J. Henry, Harrisburg; William A. Clark, Wyoming; Thos. Martin, Hershey; Jacob Mauk, Greensburg and Chas. Ruch, Philadelphia.

The 433 successful candidates for the force were drawn from 1073 applicants who appeared for examinations. Only 533 survived the rigid quiz and the final 433—who with 77 now in training complete Gov. Geo. H. Earle's authorized addition of 500 men—were those found physically fit for appointment.

The first class of 193 recruits will enter the training school at Hershey January 3, Foote announced. Then 240 candidates will follow March 1, completing their training in July, he said.

Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Hints continue to come from Brazil that revolt is simmering under the recently created dictatorship of President Vargas.

It is a threat which worries state and navy departmental folk in Washington considerably.

Naturally a state of civil war in the big southern state would, of itself, be exceedingly annoying to the United States. That, however, by no means is the worst that might befall.

OVERSEAS' INTRUSION?

President Vargas denies that he is either a Fascist or a Nazi. Perhaps it is true that he is neither, but just a plain dictator, New World fashion.

Anyway, he certainly would not submit tamely to having an imported brand of autocracy supplant his own regime. And, if he does have a rebellion to deal with, it is sure to be supported by Germany, Italy, Japan and Portugal.

Portugal and Japan are immaterial. To be sure, Brazil basically is Portuguese, but their pewee of a homeland cannot be at all useful to any movement on this side of the Atlantic. Japanese colonists are numerous in the southern Brazilian area, but, as I previously have remarked, they are disliked by the rest of the population, quite as Orientals are looked on askance in North America. Besides, Japan is too far away and too fully occupied with what is going on in this hemisphere.

But Italy and Germany would be vastly troublesome.

NOT ASSIMILATED

Both are numerically strong in Brazil. And the Germans remain Germans, and the Italians remain Italians; they have not been much assimilated. Each nationality has its own newspapers and clubs and culture and sympathies.

The Germans have kept their settlements pretty well consolidated. There is Brazilian territory which is as German as Berlin, in sentiment. The Italians are more scattered. Still, they color national feeling, not so concentratedly as the Germans, but perhaps even more generally. And they are as Fascistic as the Germans are Nazi-istic.

Moreover, a Fascist-Nazi fellowship exists in Brazil.

The Germans would like to Germanize the republic and the Italians would like to Italianize it, but they think they could do it in partnership. Maybe they could.

HITLER, MUSSOLINI HOPES ?

I do not mean to say that Mussolini and Hitler expect to divide the country and annex it, but I do believe that they hope, between them, to become politically and economically predominant there.

After which they doubtless would quarrel between themselves, but that's beside the point at present.

Well,, President Vargas doesn't serve Mussolini's purpose, or Hitler's.

Dictator as he may be, he's a BRAZILIAN dictator. Call it patriotism if you like (I think it's pure personal selfishness), but, in any event, he shows no signs of "letting go" to Mussolini or Hitler, as Brazilian-German and Brazilian-Italian advocates.

IF CIVIL WAR COMES—

Well, if he has on his hands a rebellion, it will be a local German-Nazi and Italian-Fascist rebellion.

The local rebels will have to have supplies and recruits from overseas —as in Spain.

Where will they get them?—but from Germany and Italy?

Vargas will have to blockade them out.

How?

Take Uncle Sam's coast line, Atlantic and Pacific, and add 25 per cent, and you have approximately Brazil's coast line. And Brazil hasn't a navy to speak of.

How is Brazil to maintain a blockade? Ridiculous!

COMPLICATIONS

Why, it goes almost without saying that Uncle Samuel, under the Monroe Doctrine, will have to lend a hand.

And will that not involve Italano-Germanic complications?

But THAT is not all.

The United States is all mussed up with Japan in Oriental waters.

Great Britain is in the soup because it is so far-flung that it can not take care of every place—the North sea and Mediterranean and Hongkong, et cetera.

Well, how about us?—the Monroe Doctrine?

The South American east coast? Our ships on the Yangtze?

SPREAD OUT TOO MUCH?

The point is:

We are spread out too much.

It is the same way with John Bull. He cannot be as sassy as he would like to be in the Orient, because he has to concentrate on the Mediterranean.

We are getting so that the Caribbean, and seas to the southward, are so important to us that we cannot reckon with waters anywhere else.

WISHES

John Bull would like to have us help him in the Orient; he is busy in the Mediterranean. Uncle Sam is likely to wish, on the other hand, that John Bull would help us in the Orient; Uncle Samuel may be busy on the South American coast.

The place is full of helps and handicaps.

HELP FILL KETTLES, ARMY PLEA TODAY

"Won't you help fill the kettles?" That message went out from Salvation Army leaders today as they sought larger donations for their Christmas work among New Castle's needy families. Donations in the downtown receptacles were heavy at first, but this week the contributions have been lighter.

Solemn high mass will be celebrated at 9 o'clock. The boys' choir will sing "Gregorian Mass XI". Students of St. Joseph's school will sing Christmas carols at the fifth mass at 9:45 o'clock.

At 11 o'clock the sixth mass will be solemnized.

Happenings And Items Of Interest At Big Tin Plate Plants Here.

Why the Assorting Department is One of the Most Important in the Manufacture of Tin Plate—By Misses Anna Billyk, Cecelia Hasulak, Jewel Skanesky and Helen Duncho, Assorting Department.

A flash of silver and blue. This hue of color creates a pleasant atmosphere and a lasting impression upon any visitor. The blue of uniforms, which the girls are required to wear, the silver of tin, and the blue of mercury lights above comprise this artistry of color.

The Assorting Department is efficiency managed under the supervision of William J. Brown. The employees, numbering 150 girls and 44 reckoners (men), take care of all the work in one shift; whereas other departments require three. It is essential that all tin plate must be removed daily to take care of the fresh supply coming in constantly.

The bright flash of silver denotes the inspecting of each sheet minutely by girls who have had to spend approximately three months in training before they were considered experienced assorters

There are seventeen major defects which would prevent the sheet from being classed a "prime"—a plate which has no defect visible to the naked eye. The defective sheets are classified as "seconds," "menders" and "waste waste." All sheets must be perfectly clean, flat and uniform in gauge. This is of the utmost importance to the customer as he can lose considerable time and money when he receives plate not up to the standard. Dirty plate results in rusty spots forming, and pltae that is not flat or uniform in gauge causes a great deal of trouble in the can factories where all machinery is set to a perfect gauge.

The reckoner also has his share of responsibility. His work must be accurate and efficient. Most tin plate must be counted into separate packages of 112 sheets, weighed, marked and piled according to the customer's requirements. Skill is necessary in the handling of plate to avoid damaged sheets, and each worker is responsible that the plate he handles is uniform in size and weight. After the tin plate has been loaded it must be checked for size and weight by "Checkers" and lifted in the basket of a crane and removed to the Boxing room.

A trip with the tin plate would be a visit to the four corners of the earth. Traveling from New York to China, going either east or west. Alaska to South America, going north and south. Let us travel first with the most common kind of tin plate—known as "coke"—which comprises 80 per cent of our product. The greater part of this type is used at canneries. Therefore, it is our duty to send forth a superior product so that no hint of contamination can ever affect the products which are preserved in tin cans. Next we have a rare, expensive type of tin plate—known as "charcoals"—of which we produce 5 per cent. This is ever so carefully inspected, reckoned and later each sheet is packed between tissue paper. It's use is confined to the making of frigidaires, meters, large milk cans, stoves, ice cream freezers, etc. Last we have "terne plate" of which we produce 15 per cent It is entirely opposite in color, being black or slate colored and used for oil cans, spoutings, non-conductors for lightning and most commonly for roofing. This too is an expensive plate, but because of its durability it pays for itself in the long run. All these types of tin vary in size and weight. Some of the tin made is so thin a person can tear it in two, and then there are some tin plates that are so large and heavy that it requires two girls to inspect and turn over each sheet. When the mill is working in full, approximately 1,680,000 sheets are sorted and reckoned daily.

It is here in this department that tin is also analyzed and defects tallied of certain stipulated sizes so that other departments can be informed of their respective defects. Part of these reports are also sent to the main office in Pittsburgh where they too check up on the steel defects made in our own mill.

We also have the customer's representative to check up on plate being sent out. The Chief Inspector from Pittsburgh visits twice monthly. On these visits he takes ten base boxes consisting of 112 sheets each from the assorting room or warehouse and examines them closely. It is upon these visits that we receive our grading for quality. It is always uppermost in our minds that a "satisfied customer is an asset, but a dissatisfied customer is a liability." To our minds, the Assorting Department is most important because the preceding departments are responsible for the defects, but we are upheld with the responsibility that each flaw is removed before it reaches the hands of the customers.

And last but not least we must mention the importance of safety. Considerable effort is expended upon the subject and it has proven its worth. The girls have a one-minute safety talk every morning. Two girls are required to attend a safety meeting every other Wednesday in the general office; and we also have a safety whistle that blows at 9:00 a. m. and 4:00 p. m. when all employees raise their right hands to remind them of safety. As a result the girls have an enviable record of eight and one-half consecutive years without a lost time accident, and the men almost a year.

We believe that all of us, who had the opportunity of inspecting the assorting department during the public inspection period of a little over a year ago, will agree that the assorting department was one of the most unique and outstanding departments from the standpoint of color and interest. This department is to be congratulated on its efficiency and interest in Quality, Safety and Service of product.

EDUCATION IN INDUSTRY

The growing need of education in industry is becoming more and more apparent as time goes on. The executives of industry are cognizant of this fact, and are endeavoring to divert the best young minds toward industry. Along this line the following interesting short radio address was made by Mr. E. R. Stettinius, Jr. Chairman, Finance Committee, U. S. Steel Corporation in a coast-to-coast hook-up on December 7, 1937.

"Work has always been a teacher. It taught our forefathers the mastery of wheel and lever, of plow and ax, of the handicrafts. Even primary education in the three R's was then a privilege, now it is open to all. Today, school and shop have joined hands, and rightly so, for both industry and society need skilled workmen and informed citizens. No one will dispute the social need for more and better education; but we in industry are even more acutely aware of its necessity, as we face our great responsibilities. Progress depends upon the trained intelligence.

The way of learning a trade in the old days was through the appentrice system. A person learned while doing, became a journeyman ready to travel in search of further trade experience. Finally, he settled down as a master craftsman and employer With the advent of machinery, that educational process lost its grip, although it never entirely vanished. Now, apprenticeship is being revived along modern lines through the cooperation of employers, labor, schools, and the Federal and State Governments. An ambitious youth can combine all-around training, based on a definite schedule of accomplishment in the shop, with suitable schooling of a general character. He is helped and guided by public educators and advisers, to the end that whatever weakness existed in the old apprenticeship system may be erased from the new. If you desire definite information on this new apprenticeship system, write to the Federal Committee on Apprentice Training, at Washington, or any of its state committees.

Then there is the trade school. The States are aided by the Federal Government to maintain public schools of this kind. There are also some privately endowed trade schools of equal merit. Their aim is to turn out a trained individual with a background in the fundamentals of a particular trade so that he can be developed by industry into a skilled specialist with opportunity for advancement into broader fields. Outstanding young men, who might star in the academic branches, are coming into industry from trade schools. It is up to industry to give them every chance for advancement so that educators will encourage other youths of talent to enter industry. If industry has any argument with the school system, it is that educators too often steer into the academic branches and the professions the type of brains we in industry need the most.

For those older persons who find themselves adrift in a changing society, there is the adult education movement. This affords a wide range of classes for the instruction of those who wish to fit themselves for a new occupation or to expand their cultural knowledge.

But we in industry have an educational duty also toward every person in the enterprise. We are doing more along these lines than is generally realized, but the work must be carried further. Job training is now common. The object is not only to teach a man how to do his job well and increase his earning power, but also to grasp the industrial procedure of which he is a part, that he may see enlarged opportunity for his personal advancement. A brief training course does this for beginners, and older employees are now having their attention directed to the same goal.

An industrial operation is not a series of individual efforts, but a mighty achievement in team-play. The individual becomes a member of a group, and the group is led by a foreman. In a sense the foreman become the key man Industry has been slow to recognize this, but now is making up for it by giving special training to foremen, not only in leadership and group psychology, but also in the latest methods developed by science and research.

Many large industries provide class rooms, instructors, and formal training for those employees whose early schooling was deficient, and for the foreign-born who lack command of the English language. Some carry instruction to the point of providing scientific and technical courses for recently employed college graduates, and are themselves empowered to grant degres in science to their graduates.

That all these stimulating educational efforts pay their way in the long run is now generally recognized. Whatever industry does to lift the mental stature of employees is bound to help industry itself. A corporation's effectiveness can never be greater than the sum total of the abilities of its men and women.

I leave you with this message. Industry is ever in need of talent, training and vision. Inside the shop industry is striving more and more to provide educational opportunity Outside the shop, industry supports all efforts to lift Americans to higher mental and cultural levels. I trust we shall never see the end of this serviceable national ideal, for upon its realization depends the future well-being of the nation.

Quite a large number of the Shenango Works organization heard this radio address in the meeting room, and all were very much impressed with these very important thoughts pertaining to modern industry.

A CHRISTMAS PRESENT

Apparently Santa Claus got an early start this year, and from all indications M. A. Brown, superintendent of the finishing department, was first on his list. Last Thursday Mr. Brown was delighted when he received a roller-leveler wrapped up in trimmings and tinsel which are a part of every honest to goodness Christmas present. Mr. Crawford, general superintendent, made the presentation speech and Mr. Brown expressed his thanks for so appropriate a gift, as he had been wishing for just such a present as this to be placed in his Christmas stocking. He now feels that he can serve his trade all the better with this new equipment.

ECHOES FROM THE RECENT HUNTING SEASON

From Rich Valley, under date of December 15, 1937, the following communication was received by Jim Cypher from Leroy Peasley, caretaker of the Tin City Hunting lodge:

Deer Cifur:

Well the Vallee is quiet and serene once again since the danged deer hunters pulled out and the old lady and I can sit in front of the fire once more without being half scared to death expectin a 30-06 or sum other hi-powered ball to go a whizzin thru the kitchen.

It sure looks as if winter was a goin to be pretty hard on the wild life this year. There is about six or seven inches of snow in the vallee and probably twice that much up on top of the ridges. I notice where the deer are yarded up and down on the flats among the hemlock which seems to be their main food at this time. I never seed so many fawns as what are hereaboots and I hope the feed holds out but February, which is the deers hardest month is a long ways off yit and no doubt I'll find plenty of these little fellers in the spring a victim of hungeer and cold. It seems a pity that nature which is so kind to all wild life during the summer can be so harsh and cruel in the winter months.

Old man Hale who always pulls out of the Vallee when the bear and deer hunters git in got back home yisterday from a visit with his daughter over in Clinton County He says the deer kill was jist a little under expectashuns there but quite a number of bear was taken and probably more left.

I was talkin to Mike Cranney the other day and he tells me that Charlie Pugh, Ed. Rumbaugh and Grover Cain sum of the fellers who work in the Tin Mill with you stopped in his restrant and put on the feed bag after a days deer hunt and Mike seemed sort of sorry he hadn't hired a extra cook. Seems that feller Pugh who pulls thru the snow like he was on stilts had the other boys pretty well tuckered out. They was tellin aboot a feller by the name of Kirkpatrick who took an early Saturday bath while out huntin rabits. Seems as how Kirkpatrick had tracked a rabit in a hole on the north bank of the Neshannick and while pokin around the rabit took off and lit on Kirkpatricks sheepskin vest. Kirk took off in a southerly direcshun and when he came to the surface he looked like Mondays wash before it gits to the ringin. Danged if I can understand what sum people will do to git a kick outa huntin.

I was sort of sorry that Raney feller didn't git up for the deer season. He was tellin me when he was out west he used to hunt jack rabits with a No. 4 iron but I'll be danged if I can remember any gun like that. I got a laff the mornin Raney and Jim McCormick decided to clime the mountain and asked me if they could take a short cut thru the house.

I hope you fellers cum up before trout season and hunt wildcats. I seed sum tracks over by Boalicks Rocks last Sunday and if I can find my snowshoes I'll go with you.

Well the old lady wants me to git sum more fodder for the stove so I gess I'll dry off the pen.

Your friend,
Leroy Peasley,
Emporyum, Pa.

THE CASUAL OBSERVER SAYS

Now is the time to build that quail shelter and place some feed for the birds and squirrels, whether you hunt 'em or not.

What the country needs is a good 10 cent whetstone.

We should pay more attention to the "Mush and Milk" Bowl than to the Rose, Cotton and Orange Bowls these days.

NOTES

The male chorus rehearsal scheduled for Sunday, December 26, has been postponed until Sunday, January 2, 1938.

We regret to learn that Dave Lewis of the Pickling Department was struck by an automobile the other evening while on his way home from work, and will probably necessitate him lying in a hospital bed over the holiday season. Safety is emphasized more than ever in our plant safety meetings during the holiday season, and for several years we have not had an employee of the Shenango Works in the hospital due to injuries sustained in the plant during the holiday season.

This department urges everyone to be careful and practice safety in and out of the plant in order that we may all enjoy and wish everyone

A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS

Kiwanians Stage Annual 'Junior Kiwanis Reunion'

Thirty-five of the 43 Junior Kiwanians of New Castle's Kiwanis club were guests Wednesday at the annual "Christmas reunion luncheon" which the club sponsors in their honor. The program took place in The Castleton.

The "juniors", most of them college fellows home for the holidays, were photographed at the close.

Wallace Day's Speaker.

During the meeting the young men, all of whom have served three-month Junior Kiwanis memberships sometime in the past, heard Attorney Robert L. Wallace, past president of the club, give an instructive and authoritative review of the new amendments which will greatly alter Pennsylvania's workmen's compensation law January 1, 1938.

Describing his message as "a bird's eye view" of the workmen's compensation set-up after January 1, Mr. Wallace declared that the changes will make things "a bit difficult" for the state's employers. He went into detail to demonstrate why.

The speaker was introduced by another past president of Kiwanis, James Mayberry.

A present Junior Kiwanian, John Henderson, voiced the club's welcome to the group of young men who had returned to share once more the fellowship they were privileged to enjoy for a quarter of a year sometime before.

Juniors "Intrduce" Selves.

President Thomas L. Paden, presiding, called upon the "juniors" to stand and "tell where you are now" and the 35 responded. He also introduced—or presented—one of Kiwanis' local leader for years—yesterday they properly called him 'Judge' Thomas W. Dickey. Mr. Dickey had been sworn in as a county court judge just a short time before.

Martin R. Hornung, chairman of vocational guidance work for the club and director of the Junior Kiwanis activities, introduced Mr. Mayberry and Mayberry in turn presented Mr. Wallace.

Introduced by President Paden as "the father of these Junior Kiwanians" was Principal Frank L. Orth of senior high, the man who designates the students for the Junior Kiwanis honors.

Carol singing, a feature of the noon program, was led by Chester P. Reynolds. At the piano was Judy Sypher.

Guests In Attendance.

Junior Kiwanians present were:

Robert Lennig, John Stump, David McBride, Thomas Stevenson, Heber Baldwin, Robert Jamison, Bud Gordon, Alfred Sadler, Ed Chapman, Robert Muse, Robert Miner, Jack McConaghy, John G. Hunt Students Bitten By Dog At Ann Arbor

Two Michigan Students Bitten By Dog That Had Rabies

(International News Service)

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Dec. 23.—Hoping to reach them in time to save them from possible death from rabies, police today launched a nationwide hunt for two University of Michigan students bitten by a mad dog just before they departed for their Christmas vacation.

Police pleaded for cooperation of newspapers and radios in the hunt. Names of the students were known and the police search was made more difficult by the fact that 7,000 of the 12,000 U. of M. students have left Ann Arbor and scattered to their homes in all parts of the country for the holidays.

Students Warned.

Authorities also warned all other University of Michigan students who might have been bitten and failed to report their case to police to seek immediate Pasteur treatment.

It was definitely known that four persons were bitten by the mad dog which invaded two campus buildings last Saturday. The dog was not captured until nine hour later, and an autopsy after it died revealed it was suffering from rabies, according to Dr. Robert W. Emerson, university pathologist, who notified police.

Two of those bitten, R. Stuart Crossman, a student from Buffalo, N. Y., and Mrs. C. G. Dobrovolny, a laboratory assistant in the zoology department, reported to police immediately and were undergoing Pasteur treatments. They were in no danger.

Crossman told police the dog had bitten another student who declined to seek medical aid. C. G. Dobrovolny, husband of Mrs. Dobrovolny, who captured the dog with his bare hands without being bitten, told police the dog had bitten a Negro co-ed as well as his wife. The co-ed refused to see a doctor.

RARE GREY FOX IS KILLED NEAR MERCER

MERCER, Pa., Dec. 23—A grey fox, the only member of the fox family for which the state continues to pay a bounty, was trapped in Findley township by August Sealand. Smaller than the red fox and more mischievous, this grey fox had been preying on poultry in the vicinity for several seasons.

Sealand can get $4 from the state for its capture, $5 for its pelt, likely more from furriers.

Paint Magnate Hands Out $75,000 To His Workers

Also Gives Each Married Worker $300 For Wife, Paid Off Debts Last Year

(International News Service)

AMBLER, Pa., Dec. 23.—J. Harvey Gravell, Ambler paint manufacturer who gave $100,000 in bonuses to 76 employes last year to "pay their just debts," today distributed $75,000 more among his workers.

This year Gravell remembered the housewife, whom he calls "the forgotten woman of this era." In addition to a bonus, the manufacturer gave checks of $300 each to his 70 married employes with the instruction "this is for your wife, not you."

"One of the most important factors in the make-up of a man has up to this time been ignored," said Gravell, "and that is the housewife who plods along taking care of her husband year after year."

This year's bonuses, ranging from $100 to $7,000, were based on "need and worth." Checks given to the present 85 employes here, in Detroit, New Castle (Del.) and Walkerville, Ontario, totalled $54,000, in addition to the "housewife's bonus."

Gravell, a resident of Elkins Park, is president of the American Chemical and Paint Co., Ambler. He received messages of congratulation from President Roosevelt and Gov. George H. Earle last year when he paid off his workers' debts.

Six Are Dead In Connellsville Fire

(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 23.—Heroic Frank Crowe, 42, lay in the state hospital today, resigned to his belief it was the "will of God" that led to the death of four of his children, their uncle and their aunt in a flaming log home at Melcroft, near here.

"I'll never be able to explain how it happened," he said, wincing from pain of burns that covered his arms, legs and parts of his body. "But think of it—six of them dead."

The six were:

Melvin, 14; Joan, 13; Annabelle, 10, and Wilmer Dean, 7; William Youthers, 78, and his sister, Anna, 74.

With the exception of Melvin, all were cremated in the flames. The boy, a freshman in Connellsville high school, died in the hospital after his father risked his life to drag him from the house.

St. Vitus Christmas Services Announced

Two Well Known Young Men Will Deliver First Sermons During Services

SERVICES BEGIN CHRISTMAS EVE

Parishioners of St. Vitus church, corner South Jefferson and Maitland streets, will observe Christmas Day with the utmost solemnity, the Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita, pastor, announced today.

Impressive services have been arranged for Christmas Eve and the following morning. At 11:30 o'clock, Christmas eve, the church will be darkened. About 50 altar boys, carrying candles, will precede the priests for adoration services conducted at the foot of the neatly arranged altar. During the adoration, Mrs. John Mastrangelo and Mrs. Francis Colo will sing, "Holy Night." A procession will follow and the image of the Holy Infant will be placed in the beautifully prepared crib, to the tune of "Adeste Fidelis," to be sung by the choir.

Solemn High Mass

Solemn high mass will then be celebrated. The Rev. Fr. DeMita will be celebrant, the Rev. Dante DeLillo, a student at St. Vincent college, and a resident of this city, will serve as deacon, the Rev. Nicholas Biondi, of this city, also a student at St. Vincent college, will be sub-deacon and the Rev. Fr. S. F. Anuskiewicz, assistant pastor of St. Vitus church, will serve as master of ceremonies, it was announced.

Rev. DeLillo To Preach

The Rev. DeLillo, who will be ordained to priesthood in June, 1938, will take the pulpit and preach his first sermon. The title of the sermon will be, "The Birth of Christ." The St. Vitus choir, which has been rehearsing for several weeks, will sing a new mass. Mrs. Elizabeth Lasko, is church organist. The church will be taxed to capacity for the Christmas eve services, the Rev. Fr. DeMita stated. For this reason, he requests parents not to be accompanied by children.

Christmas morning, three masses will be said. The first mass will be celebrated at 7:45 o'clock, followed by children's mass at 9:30 o'clock. High mass will be solemnized at 11:00 o'clock, followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The Rev. Fr. S. F. Anuskiewicz will be celebrant, the Rev. Nicholas Biondi, will be deacon, the Rev. Dante DeLillo will serve as sub-deacon and the Rev. Fr. DeMita will be master of ceremonies.

Rev. Biondi To Preach

Following the singing of the gospel, the Rev. Biondi will ascend to the pulpit and preach his first sermon. Rev. Biondi will preach on, "The Birth of Christ." Rev. Biondi will also be ordained to priesthood in June, 1938. The two local young men are well known.

The Rev. DeMita stated that confessions will be heard on Friday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock and from 7 to 9 o'clock. No doubt, several hundred parishioners of St. Vitus church will receive Holy Communion on Christmas Day.

An energetic committee, headed by Frank Mastrangelo, is busily engaged arranging one of the most beautiful cribs constructed here in years. The crib will be a replica of the world famous manger which adorns St. Martin's museum in Naples, Italy. The committee is spending numerous hours in preparing the crib which will complete an ideal Christmas church setting for the impressive services arranged. The church altar is also being decorated beautifully. The interior of the church is being appropriately illuminated for the Yuletide season.

Members of the city civil service commission for police did not lose any time grading the examination papers of the candidates for jobs recently. Following the test, the members convened and the papers were graded. Twenty-nine of the less than 40 who took the test, although 125 received application forms, passed. These will receive instructions from the commission to report for a physical examination. The two grades, mental and physical, will determine the percentage of the candidate and he will be then placed on the eligible list. At present there is only one man serving temporarily. He passed the test held one year ago.

Icy sidewalks claimed two victims during the past several days . . . Street department employes placed ashes in front of schools on paved streets this lessening the likelihood of a auto skidding into pupils crossing the streets . . . Like policemen, firemen are at all times ready to respond to the aid of the distressed, injured or accident victims as was illustrated Tuesday night when they recovered the body of the late Ellsworth Weaver, who was knocked from a bridge into a river.

Limerick Murder Case Is Reopened

Slaying Of Girl Seven Years Ago On New Year's Eve, Shocked Washington

ESTRANGED WIFE OF SUSPECT HELD

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Search for the murderer of 19-year-old Beulah Limerick seven years ago New Year's Eve, was intensified today.

The case suddenly was reopened with the detention in New York of Mrs. Rose V. Langdon, 37, estranged wife of a former policeman who was questioned in connection with the crime. Mrs. Langdon was brought here today by Detective Floyd Truscott. He said she will be questioned regarding the testimony she gave at the coroner's inquest. Truscott would not reveal the angles which prompted the sudden reopening of the case.

Was Found Dead

Beulah Limerick was found dead in bed Dec. 31, 1930, in the front room of a ramshackle house she occupied with her brother, Vernon, and a roomer, Richard Reed. Robert F. Langdon was the policeman on the beat.

Langdon testified he usually peeped through the front window and frequently saw the girl entertaining male friends. Her brother testified she lived in constant fear of the policeman.

Langdon is now in jail at New Haven, Conn., awaiting a second trial on a charge of trying to wreck a train. He was dismissed from the police force when a huge still was found in his home.

Miss Limerick had attended a dance of the Sky High Whoopee club, of which she was secretary, a few hours before she was found dead by her brother and Reed. An ambulance physician pronounced her dead, obviously from natural causes. It was not known that she had been shot until her body was released to an undertaker for preparation for burial.

Probe Reveals Alcoholism Is Cause Of Death

Will Probably Free Four Men Held In Connection With Death Of Women

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 23.—Acute alcoholism today was expected to be given as the cause of the death of Rose Ault, 29-year-old divorcee, whose nude body was found in a hotel room here last Thursday.

It was learned that a chemical analysis of the vital organs of the woman, ordered by Coroner W. J. McGregor, showed 82 per cent alcoholism in the body fluids. Fifty per cent is sufficient to cause death, according to medical authorities.

Should the report by substantiated it is likely that the four Steel Workers Organizing Committee convention delegates from New York who are held in connection with the death will be freed.

The body was found in a room occupied at the time by Louis H. Green of Brooklyn, Fred A. Odenwalk of Ozone Park, L. I., Jacob Zelkind and Morris Engargola, both of Brooklyn. All four were held under suspicion in the case.

FELONIOUS ASSAULT CASE BEFORE COURT

Henry McNanny of Ellwood City, charged with felonious assault and battery on Forest Henry, of the same place, was placed on trial this forenoon at Lawrence county court before Judge Thomas W. Lickey. The trouble took place in a beer parlor at Ellwood City.

Five Tied In 'Stork Derby'

Five Canadian Women Will Probably Share Fortune Of $500,000

(International News Service)

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 23.—Five Toronto mothers—maybe only four if Mrs. Martin Kenny does not recover from illness which followed a still birth—made plans today to spend their shares of the $500,000 "stork derby" winnings provided for in the will of eccentric Charles Millar.

Practical joker or philanthropist—no one will ever know which—Millar left the sum to the Toronto mother who would bear the largest number of children in the ten years following his death. Contested bitterly by Millar's surviving relatives, the supreme court of Canada yesterday upheld the unusual clause and today, decision as to how the money shall be divided, rested with Mr. Justice Middleton in the Ontario courts.

One Eliminated

Mrs. Kenny, Mrs. Isabel MacLean, Mrs. Alice Timleck, Mrs. Annie Smith and Mrs. Kathleen Nagle, each with nine children born and registered during the period, are tied. Mrs. Kenny claims 11 births but has not produced registration for two. Mrs. Pauline Mae Clark was eliminated by the court because legitimacy of some of her "entries" was questioned.

The tied winners took news of the court decision in varied fashion. Mrs. Nagle revealed that she is expecting another baby—her twelfth—"by Christmas." Mrs. MacLean was "too busy" to comment. Mrs. Smith admitted it was the "best news" she had heard in a long time. Mrs. Timleck thought it was "swell."

Mrs. Kenny, hardly able to talk, still stuck to her guns and her 11 claimed births—"I lead," she maintained stubbornly, "I'll take all the money."

The 16th Kenny child—only seven are living—was buried today. A girl, it was still born.

Eleven Men Are Arrested

Accused Of Disobeying Police Orders In Carrying Banners Last Night

HEARINGS GIVEN THIS MORNING

Eleven men appeared before Mayor Charles E. McGrath in police court at City Hall today in answer to a charge of disorderly conoduct, the men having been arrested by a squad of police last night in East Washington street. Nine of the 11 were found guilty and were each fined $5.00. However, the sentence was suspended.

The arrests were made, it is stated, because the men disobeyed an order of the mayor issued Saturday prohibiting the men from carrying banners which he believed would interfere, he said, with the welfare of the people on the street.

The banners, nine in number, protested against the purchase of Japanese-made goods and also against war. The banners were taken to the police station. The men were released on their own recognizance last night.

During the trial this morning Mayor Charles E. McGrath said that, officially, the wording on the banners had nothing to do with the case, and the sole purpose of his order was in connection with traffic conditions.

The men who appeared before His Honor stated that they carried the banners in the hope of bringing their humanitarian appeal to the people and of securing publicity.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath asserted that he was not in discord with propaganda against Japan, but declared that any police order he issued must be obeyed.

Attorney John S. Powers appeared for the defendants. He contended the men were not guilty of disorderly conduct because they had raised no disorder, such as loud-shouting or other boisterous noise. No complaints, he argued, was made against them, so far as evidence showed.

It was then that the mayor explained that the charge had developed from the refusal of the men, who carried the banners, to obey a police order. He said he had previously warned the men.

The mayor also said that last night, the police headed by Chief Ralph A. Criswell had asked the men not to carry the banners and when the request was not obeyed, arrests resulted.

Attorney Powers declared that in his opinion the charge would not be upheld and asked that the mayor and the city attorneys submit the case as stated to the courts for a decision.

The mayor found nine of the men guilty and replied that any future legal action would have to come from the defendant's attorneys.

His Honor also said he desired it understood that the propaganda on the banners had nothing to do with the case, adding that the arrests grew out of the men's refusal to obey the order he issued.

In answer to a question Mayor McGrath stated that there would be no objection to the men wearing signs on their person because in his opinion this would not interfere with the welfare of the people on the street.

Famed Italian Soprano Found Teaching Music

(International News Service)

LONDON, Dec. 23.—Denying that she is in want, Louisa Tetrazzini, famed Italian soprano, today claimed she is giving singing lessons in Milan not because she is poor, but because she wants to find "another Tetrazzini."

Informed by telephone that London friends pictured her as virtually penniless and forced to give singing lessons to able her to live, Tetrazzini burst into song before exclaiming "How silly."

"I give lessons to a few pupils, mostly American and English, simply because I love music, and it keeps me in close touch with it. I could never give up my singing.

"And I hope one day to find a second Tetrazzini. I may find one among my pupils. Some of them are quite good, but I have not yet found her.

"I am not forced by necessity to give lessons. I could retire and never give another. But I do not wish to retire from this teaching—I enjoy it just for the pleasure of singing and hearing singing. You see, I can still sing."

She again trilled off a few bars, hitting the high C with comparative ease and betraying only a little her 67 years.

"Now," she went on, "I sing only to my friends—the more favored ones. But if I were called upon I would return to the concert platform.

"Today I accept payment for the lessons I give at my school here in my villa, but who would not? I have just a few pupils, and I think it is only right that they should pay for what they are learning."

Despite Tetrazzini's light-hearted dismissal of the reports of her alleged poverty, however, friends now in London, who have seen her recently and who studied under her, claim she has very little money.

More than 15 billion cigarets were produced in the United States last July. This is an all-time record for a month's production.

men got their lungs filled with the fumes, they became unconscious. William M. Shuliff was the first to be affected, and was treated at an emergency first aid station which was set up in the rear of Nobil's Shoe Store, next door to the Autenreith store.

A short time later, Chief McIlwain, and firemen Malley, Rohrer, Steinbrink, and White were overcome in rapid succession. Doctors and ambulances were summoned, but in the meantime, Elmer T. Tinstman and Ed. Marvin, Red Cross First Aid men, under the direction of Public Safety Director J. Myron Rice, and a group of volunteers, gave them first aid treatment, administering oxygen from inhalators belonging to the fire department and Pennsylvania Power Company.

Sent To Hospital

As soon as they had been revived, they were hustled off to the hospitals, where they were given further treatment. Other firemen were later overcome and taken to the hospitals.

Fire Chief McIlwain, Capt. George Harper, and Firemen R. Harold Blewitt were the worst affected and had to be placed in oxygen tents. Blewitt was still in the oxygen tent this morning, but all the rest had practically recovered from the worst affects of the fumes this morning.

Firemen Clyde Rohrer and George Ward, were the least affected of those who received treatment at the hospitals, and were able to leave after receiving first aid treatment last evening. Rohrer was at the New Castle hospital and Ward at the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Collapses After Fire

Captain Harper, who directed operations at the scene of the fire after Chief McIlwain was taken away, and until Assistant Chief Dart arrived, collapsed at Central fire station after the fire was over. Fireman Blewitt collapsed on the sidewalk in front of the store. Many of the other did not feel the affects of the fumes until they reached their homes, when they developed violent headaches with severe irritation of the throat and bronchial tubes.

Speaking of his own experience, Chief McIlwain stated that he seemed to be conscious of his surroundings after he was overcome but lost control of his limbs and was unable to talk. Several of the firemen overcome in the cellar had narrow escapes from drowning, and had not their fellow firemen been close at hand, would undoubtedly have drowned, as there was over a foot of water covering the floor of the cellar.

Fire Spreads Rapidly

According to employes of the store and patrons who were inside the building, the fire developed rapidly, and within a few seconds after smoke was first noticed coming through cracks in the floor, the storeroom was filled with a dense volume of acid fumes. The last of the employes and patrons to emerge had to fight their way out the smoke-filled aisles.

Robert McCarthy, one of the stock room employes, stated that he had gone into the cellar and discovered the blaze when it first started. It was just a tiny flame at that time, and he ran upstairs to get a bucket of water to put it out. By the time he got back, the fire had spread over a large area in the front of the building and he was unable to get near the fire.

The fire was kept confined to the front portion of the cellar, within an area of fifty feet from where the blaze originated, and did not break through the floor, so the actual fire loss was not great, but damage resulted from smoke, and water. Adjoining stores were slightly affected by the smoke but not enough to cause any serious damage.

Firemen were commended on all sides for their efficient work in getting the fire under control and confining it to the Autenreith building, because it looked for some time as if a fire of far more serious proportions would result.

Rice In Charge

Public Service Director Rice took personal charge of ministering to the stricken firemen, having arrived at the scene of the blaze shortly after the first alarm was sounded at 2:02 p. m., and remained at the scene until the fire was out.

He made the rounds of the homes of the firemen after they had reported off duty, and ordered all who were affected by the fumes to go to the hospital for treatment.

The attending physician stated late this morning that all the firemen were in good shape with the exception of Capt. Harper, Blewitt, and Scott. Capt. Harper's lungs were affected by the fumes and X-rays are to be taken to determined the full extent of the injury to his lungs. Scott and Blewitt developed a little trouble with their hearts as a result of the smoke.

Repair Building

Work of repairing the fire damage was started by Manager Dickinson of the Autenreith store last evening. The damaged floor was repaired, and new stock was secured to replace that which was damaged. He expected to be open for business this afternoon.

In the meantime, all the damaged stock was moved to the second floor of the building, where it will be appraised by insurance adjusters and settlement of the loss will be made later. Mr. Dickinson estimated this morning that the loss would reach $10,000 or a little more.

The fumes which caused the firemen to be overcome is believed to have come from cotton products treated with nitrates, and from cellophane and similar wrappings.

The gas masks used by the firemen here seemed inadequate to take care of these fumes, some of the firemen who were overcome having been wearing masks when stricken.

The fire department operated throughout the night, seriously undermanned as a result of the action of the poisonous fumes, and were still handicapped today. Fortunately, no other fires occurred. It will probably take several days before conditions in the department are back to normal.

DOG PETS STILL HOLD POPULARITY LEAD IN PARIS

(International News Service)

PARIS. — Per capita Paris has more dogs than any other capital in the world.

The latest census shows there are 63,446 of them of every color, breed, shape and build in which dogs can be found. For a city the size of Paris there is a dog for nearly every 44 persons.

And even this is a drop under the census taken in 1932. At that time there were 6,032 more dogs but during the interim 6,754 wound up in the pound. Of this number 5,770 were able to get out alive because of some kind sympathizer or because of release for experimental purposes

Eight Uninjured In Plane Crash

Plane Taking Off From Denver For West Coast, Settles To Ground

(International News Service)

DENVER., Dec. 23—Eight occupants of an army airplane narrowly escaped death when the ship settled to the ground near the municipal airport here as it was taking off for the west.

The plane was badly damaged but none of the occupants were injured according to Captain K. N. Walker, pilot.

Captain Walker said the ship apparently did not have sufficient power to gain altitude as it left the ground. It settled gradually bellying along the highway just east of the airport.

The occupants of the plane were graduates of the army technical air school at Rantoul, Ill., and were being transported from Chanute field to Hamilton field, California.

The men were to continue their journey to Hamilton field by air.

Fifteen Killed In Air Raid By Insurgent Planes

Twenty Injured In Raid On Sagunto, Population Leaving Tereul

(International News Service)

HENDAYE, France, Dec. 23.—Fifteen persons were killed and 20 injured in sudden Insurgent air raid on Sagunto, an official announcement at Barcelona said today, as Spanish Loyalists continued to celebrate their smashing victory at Teruel, east of Madrid.

A military bulletin issued at Madrid stated the civil population is now leaving Teruel, which was without water for four days before the Loyalist troops entered the city.

It also was announced that thousands of wounded persons in Teruel are now receiving attention and that 1500 Insurgent soldiers have been taken prisoner there.

Loyalists Confident

Premier Juan Negrin and Gen. Prieto were present during the whole campaign which resuluted in the fall of Teruel, it was stated.

Commenting on this victory, Gen. Jose Miaja, Loyalist commander on the central front, declared:

"Now we will go more rapidly to victory."

The Insurgents, meanwhile, continued to deny all claims that Teruel has fallen. An official radio broadcast from Salamanca said the rebel garrison there "continues to resist and relief troops have been sent up which are about to engage the attackers."

DE SCHWEINITZ MAKES PLANS FOR DEFENSE

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 23—Public assistance secretary Karl DeSchweinitz prepared today to defend his directorship in the care of Pennsylvania's needy against a dual move which charged the relief administration is conducted in an "inefficient and wasteful" manner.

Gov. George H. Earle has deferred until "after Christmas" his decision on the bitter tri-cornered relief battle, set off by Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, sister of U. S. Sen. Joseph F. Guffey, D., Pa., when she charged "inefficiency and waste" in the De Schweinitz administration.

Governor Earle's committee of three reported to the chief executive that the "ineffective administration" of relief not only wastes money but "breeds a disrespect for the abilities of representative government to perform its work."

F. Clair Ross, state treasurer, in a separate "undercover" probe of the relief setup charged duplication and overlapping in payments to relief recipients, "subsidized immortality" through payments of relief to un-married couples living together and other "irregularities."

De Schweinitz struck back at the critics of his administration yesterday with a brief statement contending that statement contained in the relief survey committee's report were not "substantiated." He assured he would "answer the charges in detail" to the governor next week.

De Schweinitz also stated that "conclusions of the state treasurer are entirely unwarranted."

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

Conducting our year's end inventory in fisticuffs the other day, we came across a slightly shopworn slugger in the rubber department....the goods was labeled Honest Jawn Risko...a glance at the records revealed the age as 35 years, weight 198 pounds...examination showed a mouse under the left eye...condition otherwise remarkable considering the object's antiquity.

Yes, sir, Honest Jawn Risko .. you wouldn't give a nickel for his future the other night in the third round of that fight with John Henry Lewis, light heavyweight champion of the world...Jawn took a couple of pretty fair smacks on the button in that round, not to mention a half dozen resounding thumps on the tummy...sure they hurt him...but not enough to stop him, because he was till in there throwing thumps himself in the tenth and last round ...and though he lost the decision by a couple of blocks, I wouldn't say he was all through, yet.

We have to be careful about Old Jawn...we wrote 12 years ago that he was washed up...and eight years ago we repeated the story...the third time we decided Risko was finished was four years ago.. so we're not going out on a limb like that again and make any rash statements...Old Jawn may have a future, after all.

John Henry Too Tough

We'll have to remember that Lewis is just about tops in fighting machinery...offhand, I'd say he was no worse than Joe Louis right now, even though he'd have to spot the heavy champ 15 pounds or so.... John Henry has a lot of curves... he hits hard...he's smart, at least he was smart enough to tie Risko up when Jawn got in close for a bit of that back-alley stuff...John Henry is fast on his feet, too...and throws a right hand from nine directions....no wonder Old Jawn looked so bad that night...and perhaps a lot of Risko's apparent slowness really was John Henry's speed ...Lewis is a pile of lighting darting around in there.

What does Honest Jawn think about it?...he says the fight did him good...and pointed out that he was losing fights "to certain types" of fighters 10 years ago, just as he lost to Lewis...Danny Dunn, mite manager, says "the big fella" did too much roadwork before meeting Lewis, and left his fight out there on the pavement...it's true that for elderly fighters, too much roadwork is easy to get...maybe the guy really was drawn too finely.

At any rate Risko says no, he's not through...that he wasn't quite ready for a fighter like Lewis, but that he's ready for the rest of them now, one at a time, and if Joe Louis wants somebody to tune up on, he has only to say the word and he can have an old gentleman named Risko for an evening of fun.

Can't Fool Us Again

Our own appraising department still believes Jawn has some winning fights ahead of him...truly his condition is remarkable...he always could take it, of course, and we see no reason to think his capacity for sopping it up has diminished...he is throwing a better right hand than ever before...those ancient legs are standing up magnificently...and he wants to fight.

Risko isn't convinced he's ready for the rocker...neither are we... that guy is not going to fool us into writing his ring obituary again.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

The great heart of Jake Kilrain which beat bravely on under the sledge-hammer blows of the late John L. Sullivan in the ring's last bare-knuckle heavyweight championship fight finally stopped yesterday, "kayoed" by old age and diabetes, and one of the grand old men of the ring passed on to his reward at the age of 78. During his 16 years in the ring Kilrain, whose right name was John Joseph Killon, faced 150 battlers, but his bout with Sullivan in July, 1889, at Richburg, Mass., was the high spot of his pugilistic life. Sullivan and Kilrain fought 75 rounds before Sullivan won. A sponge, tossed by a second, into the ring, ended the fight. Kilrain said the second was not authorized to throw in the sponge.

City council of Chicago last night voted to license pari-mutuel brokers to handle bets on horse races. The unprecedented ordinance, designed to take the multi-million dollar business out of the hands of the scofflaw "bookies," drive hoodlums from the trade and raise $2,000,000 a year in revenue, was adopted overwhelmingly, 43 to 4.

Otto W. Eisele, president of the Amateur Bicycle league of America, yesterday was named as chairman of the A. A. U. National Cycling committee, at New York.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

Well here it is just two days from Christmas . . . by the time you have read this it will be but two nights and one day 'till the old Saint Nick gets stuck in the chimney . . . you know that's a funny thing . . . every year the old boy gets stuck in our chimney . . . and the most amusing things make him get stuck . . . year before last he tried to drive the reindeer right into the house and it would have worked only he had a pair of skiis in the sleigh and they got caught on the second floor fire place . . . and last year you would have died laughing . . . he was a little late and in his big hurry he tried to come down the chimney head first . . . some practical joker at our house thought they would fool the old duffer so they set a deer trap at the opening of the chimney and you can imagine Santa's face . . . he looked like a deer behind a bush . . . so we are wondering if he will stop this year . . . that is why we are making this little confession at this time . . . we thought maybe if we said we were sorry that maybe he would stop and at least say hello . . . we promise old fellow that we will be good this year and no more tricks.

Did you hear about the fire in down town New Castle . . . it happened yesterday afternoon . . . well my friends there wasn't much flame but plenty of smoke . . . in fact it reminded one of war times . . . but our brave firemen did a wonderful job . . . they had the fire under control in no time but it meant that 17 firemen were sent to the hospital . . . a smoke of this type (made up of a variety of articles) is very dangerous . . . they are all recovering very nicely . . . orchids to Councilman Rice and the Honorable Mayor McGrath . . . they were both on the scene helping take care of the firemen . . . we noticed but three gas masks on the job and upon inquiring we find, that number about the limit in New Castle . . . we suggest the city purchase more . . . each man should be protected . . . what do you folks think? . . . again we say firemen . . . you did a wonderful job . . . hoping this finds you all feeling well again.

Stock Market Loses Ground

Small Losses Are Recorded During Trading At Morning Session

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—The stock market lost further ground today, although losses were smaller than in the 1 to 3 point decline of yesterday.

Trading continued dull, with the usual pre-holiday influences at work. Profit taking still was apparent, as traders closed out for long lines for the Christmas period.

The business news was mixed. Trade sales undoubtedly will be substantially under anticipation for the Yuletide season. Carloadings continue to decline, but well within seasonal limits.

FINDS HOBBY IN MEMORIZING OF AUTO LICENSES

(International News Service)

PETERSBURG, Ind.—Memorizing of automobile licenses is the hobby of Harry M. Doidge, 16, a junior in a local high school.

The youth, through observation on the street and a study of a directory containing the names and license number of cars, can tell the names of more than 1,000 owners of automobiles, if the license numbers are mentioned. And he also knows the possessors of 400 trucks by their license numbers.

Doidge can remember historical dates, but he is just on a par with other school pupils, where multiplication and division are involved. His gift is remembering figures, and what they stand for.

Schools Close For Vacations

City And District Schools Begin Christmas Vacations Today

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 23—Ellwood City and district schools held their final session of the present year today with classes being dismissed early this afternoon for the beginning of the longest vacation of the school year.

All pupils of the first six grades of the city and rural schools of this district went to the Shelby auditorium at various assigned hours today for an hour's entertainment and a generous treat provided by the National Tube company through contributions received by their employees. Some four thousand children were included in the group who visited the club house.

Franklin township schools closed on Wednesday afternoon and the Ellport boro, Perry, Wayne and North Sewickley townships schools began their holiday vacation today.

A special Christmas program was held this morning in the Junior high school assembly hour featuring a juvenile play, entitled, "What's the matter With Christmas," directed by Miss Earla Harringer. Christmas carols were led by Prof. Paul Winters, director of music.

Last evening, the pupils of the Ellport boro schools presented a Christmas program in the Magyar Presbyterian church that was well attended by parents and friends of the children. The lower grades presented a musical play, "A Christmas Miracle," and the older pupils gave a dramatic production, "Christopher's Orphans." Both of the presentations were well presented and were enjoyed by the appreciative audience.

Many of the townships schools presented special Christmas programs this afternoon for their parents and friends.

All of the schools will resume their activities on Monday, January 3.

Quintuplets Planning For Merry Christmas

Famous Dionne Quints Will Join Family For Happy Christmas Day Together

Have Loads Of Presents, No Candy For Little Girls, Is Order Of Doctor

By GRACE TROY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CALLANDER, Ont., Dec. 23.—Jingle, jingle, jingle! Right over here Santa and your biggest bag of good things if you please for the world's most famous little girls—the Dionne quintuplets. You can put those toy banks through for the quints have $600,000 in a real one.

You'll find everything set for you Santa, from the big evergreen tree glistening with tinsel in the corner of the quints' story-book home to the five pairs of little woolen mittens Mama Dionne knit but which she will let you claim credit for bringing.

On second thought—not too heavy on the toys, Santa—these not-yet-four-year-olders have had about all the playthings any little girls' hearts could desire. The real thrill of Christmas day to them will be fun of romping with little brother Oliva, Jr., and five other brothers and sisters with papa and mama to smile approval and not a single tourist to look in curiously on the proceedings.

On this day of days the Dionne quints are just five little girls—not even a majority of the family of eleven children—and they will love it.

Family Reunion

Flaxen-haired baby Oliva will be the center of attraction. The quints never have seen a child smaller than themselves and the toddler loves to amuse.

And if Oliva entertains the quints, depend on it that the quints will entertain their bigger brothers and sisters who seldom have opportunity to visit "en masse" for a day of fun.

There is stolid Ernest, dark-haired Rose who most nearly resembles her more famous sisters, Therese of the merry eyes, talkative Pauline and Pudgy little Daniel. A little shy at first, probably they'll melt.

First will come the gift giving. The quint's presents for their family are piled high under the branches of the tree they helped to decorate. There's a pretty new dress for mother, a "deep secret" gift for papa, and scads of good things for brothers and sisters.

Mysterious Bundles

Papa will produce those mysterious bundles he brought back from New York and mama the mittens into which she knit her love.

Then Christmas dinner and such a dinner—turkey and cranberry sauce and all the things that make Christmas dinner very special. Maybe the quints will show their big brothers and sisters how nicely they can speak English. "May I have some more milk" Marie will ask and the brothers and sisters who speak only French, will marvel.

But there will be no candy stuffed tummies for the quints. At three and a half they never have tasted candy and won't Christmas Day.

Governor's Young Daughter Works In Big Newark Store

(International News Service)

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 23.—Ada Hoffman, daughter of Gov. Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey, explained today she is working as a salesgirl in a department store here to earn Xmas shopping money "because I didn't like to ask my father for money." She said:

"Gifts bought with one's own money mean more, don't you think?"

When making sandwiches, butter both slices of bread, as the butter serves as a coating and prevents the filling from soaking into the bread.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Well here it is just two days from Christmas . . . by the time you have read this it will be but two nights and one day 'till the old Saint Nick gets stuck in the chimney . . . you know that's a funny thing . . . every year the old boy gets stuck in our chimney . . . and the most amusing things make him get stuck . . . year before last he tried to drive the reindeer right into the house and it would have worked only he had a pair of skiis in the sleigh and they got caught on the second floor fire place . . . and last year you would have died laughing . . . he was a little late and in his big hurry he tried to come down the chimney head first . . . some practical joker at our house thought they would fool the old duffer so they set a deer trap at the opening of the chimney and you can imagine Santa's face . . . he looked like a deer behind a bush . . . so we are wondering if he will stop this year . . . that is why we are making this little confession at this time . . . we thought maybe if we said we were sorry that maybe he would stop and at least say hello . . . we promise old fellow that we will be good this year and no more tricks.

Did you hear about the fire in down town New Castle . . . it happened yesterday afternoon . . . well my friends there wasn't much flame but plenty of smoke . . . in fact it reminded one of war times . . . but our brave firemen did a wonderful job . . . they had the fire under control in no time but it meant that 17 firemen were sent to the hospital . . . a smoke of this type (made up of a variety of articles) is very dangerous . . . they are all recovering very nicely . . . orchids to Councilman Rice and the Honorable Mayor McGrath . . . they were both on the scene helping take care of the firemen . . . we noticed but three gas masks on the job and upon inquiring we find, that number about the limit in New Castle . . . we suggest the city purchase more . . . each man should be protected . . . what do you folks think? . . . again we say firemen . . . you did a wonderful job . . . hoping this finds you all feeling well again.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—The stock market lost further ground today, although losses were smaller than in the 1 to 3 point decline of yesterday.

Trading continued dull, with the usual pre-holiday influences at work. Profit taking still was apparent, as traders closed out for long lines for the Christmas period.

The business news was mixed. Trade sales undoubtedly will be substantially under anticipation for the Yuletide season. Carloadings continue to decline, but well within seasonal limits.

FINDS HOBBY IN MEMORIZING OF AUTO LICENSES

(International News Service)

PETERSBURG, Ind.—Memorizing of automobile licenses is the hobby of Harry M. Doidge, 16, a junior in a local high school.

The youth, through observation on the street and a study of a directory containing the names and license number of cars, can tell the names of more than 1,000 owners of automobiles, if the license numbers are mentioned. And he also knows the possessors of 400 trucks by their license numbers.

Doidge can remember historical dates, but he is just on a par with other school pupils, where multiplication and division are involved. His gift is remembering figures, and what they stand for.
